Here, let me put it in front of you again, "I wonder how his new attorney will like Steve making remarks about his new wife on RRAP?"

Same reason he brought his new attorney's new wife into the group for discussion.

Hey Steve, give it up and killfile your cross-posted "markie malarkie", please, or snip rrcb, please too. You make more noise than a stuck goose, and fine folk like Jim Hampton have suggested it to you. (killfilter)

I wonder if Steves bringing his new attorney's new wife into an RRAP discussion will tick off Steve's new attorney? I certainly hope he's going to do a little checking up on what his client tells him before getting into court and looking like a dupe. The judge will likely get a chuckle out of it. Or maybe he'll take a very dim view of it. Hmmmm? Steve sure does do stupid stuff. Repeatedly.

Well, not exactly. I should have checked it out before quoting the ARRL. But the FCC also claims to have revised the definition when only providing a new pointer...

>From the FCC:

"Sections 97.3 and 97.309: We revise the definition of "International Morse code" and various digital codes in the Amateur Radio Service rules because these definitions have been updated in the current Radio Regulations. Specifically, we note that previous Radio Regulation references to International Telegraph and Telephone Consultative Committee Recommendations have been superseded by references to other recommendations. Accordingly, we revise Sections 97.3(a)(27) and 97.309(a) to conform to the current Radio Regulations definitions."

Greetings All,

Are any of you equipped to work the ISS crossband repeater?

Have any of you made contacts through it, or directly with NA1SS?

Do any of you use NASA's www.science.nasa.gov site to determine the

I guess we could say the same about you, Brain...

No name...

No ID...

No guts...

Just lots of criticizing and snide remarks from someone who's just slightly above the anymouses.

Barely.

NYC's "Most Dangerous Callers to Talk Radio," Frank from Queens and John of Staten Island, became notorious after years of calling talk radio legend Bob Grant, Jay Diamond, Dick Oliver, Curtis Sliwa, and others. They became so popular that people actually called in to the show and asked the screener if Frank & John had called in yet! Now, Frank and John discuss news, politics and social issues on their own radio show, "The Right Perspective".

Live broadcast heard over shortwave radio station WWCR 3.215 MHz and the Internet every Friday night 10pm EST at http://www.therightperspective.com

If you miss the show, a podcast archive is available at http://therightperspectivepodcastblog.blogspot.com/

There is, indeed, a similarity of rather silly and infantile behaviour between the two, but based on previous behaviours, she is more likely to be one of NOT-HAM, CANDID or Leigh Preece.

Whoever she is, who would wish to advertise themselves as such a a fool as to repeatedly shout insults from the sideline?

Why bother with old fashioned radio equipment when ISS is regularly on both Echolink and IRLP? While it's true that anyone with a 2M HT pretty much has all the equipment needed for an on-the-air contact, the time and footprint restrictions are too severe to make that a mode which is even practical for more than one trial contact. Tried it once and didn't particularly like it (144.49 MHz / 145.80 MHz).

Nope, I say the VoIP Echolink or IRLP method is much more reliable.

See http://www.rac.ca/ariss/oindex.htm for info on Echolink conference schedules. Apparently, the astronauts haven't gotten the message yet that "Echolink isn't real ham radio."

For once, Beany, you couldn't be more correct. Your posts represent a perfect example of exactly the kind of intolerance and LACK of "civilised behaviour" that has permeated some parts of "Hammery"

Steve is a disgrace to amateur radio.

Poor Steve has no control over his own actions. He can do neither.

Welp, Steve's new attorney would probably recommend against the former, and has probably already advised the latter. Unless he's read up on Steve's comments about his new wife and her sleeping habits. Then his new attorney would probably beat Steve's ass himself.

Yep. Faster than a speeding epithet. Able to leap towering thimbles

1. Webster is a Yank dictionary and not an English one, so the question is irrelevant.

2. Dictionaries do not prescribe they merely describe so the question is, once again, irrelevant.

3. If it seems that I am being intolerant towards those who are not Radio Hams by any stretch of the imagination, then, good. That was and is my intention. We should guard jealously the privileges that we have and stand apart from those who are simple appliance operators and simple-minded CBers and who are indistinguishable from the man-in-the-street with his GSM phone or CB walkie-talkie..

4. That said, I warmly encourage, as I have always done, everybody without exception and without prejudice to exert themselves to join our ranks. There is no snobbery in a wish to maintain standards.

5. Radio Hammery is a technical pursuit and I wish for it to always remain so.

6. Whoever you are, I am critical of you for originating personal remarks. There is no call for such. Ham Radio has traditions of international gentlemanliness which seem to be lost on you. I am not familiar with the Yankland licensing scheme; Is "KC7GR" some form of CB licence?

I saw an article in the USA Today last week about a former USMC lance corporal who has been telling folks he was a Colonel for about 50 years. So he was asked to speak at an engagement, and someone there began to question this guy's credentials. Now he's faced with 5 years of imprisonment and $10,000 fine.

And I'm still curious about Robeson's seven (7) hostile actions. When and where for starters.

Nowhere to be seen.

Yet Steve seems to know who a newlywed attorneys wife is sleeping with.

Wonder why Steve always has to bring the women folk into his messes?

Welp, I recall Jim Miccolis asking him why he keept replying to you, and more recently Jim Hampton asked him to refrain from posting.

All that's just covering up that Steve is not a good net citizen, and needs to apologize to all the folks he's offended over the years with his despicable claims. Then he needs to refrain from grossly off topic stuff such as who Mark sleeps with or who his new attorney's wife is sleeping with, dialing..., rocks through , slashed tires, and terrorized wives, homosexuality, pedophilia, and outrageous claims of what a macho marine he was (if he ever was a marine).

How you been, Len?

What I can't understand Nick is that if anyone else other than yourself posts a criticism of him he comes back with the usual "stupid boy", "grow up" macros, yet when you post he leaves you alone!

What have you got that the rest of us don't have? :-)

Perhaps he fears the reception that he'll get when he finally goes

My opinion is machine is illegal becaues it not in US territory when retransmit. Use it and you just the same as using pirate offshore station and FCC should fine you. But FCC owned by pepole like Don Clancy and so look other way. That why I hate FCC so come my blog to see more.

Actually you do when the input is on 70 centimeters and the output is on 2 meters. That's what "crossband" means.

Becasue I LIKE "old fashioned radio equipment".

I like Amateur Radio because I LIKE radios.

Anyone can turn the computer on and "chat" with someone on the far side of the planet.

It takes a bit of skill to do it without wires.

I've worked MIR twice on that pair and had a blast.

I guess it's easy to "not like" if you don't have the requisite skills or capable staion to do it with.

> Nope, I say the VoIP Echolink or IRLP method is much more reliable.

Perhaps it is. And if that's what spins your propeller, mor power to you. But making a "contact" via Echolink is no more challenging that turning the light on when you enter a room.

Some can say that about FM, or SSB, or CW, or any other mode.
However anyone can turn the computer on and work Echolink. There's no skill in that.

It has to do with "policy" issues if it means getting RRAP'ers to talk on the same frequency at the same time.

Answer to who? You?

You have an overblown opinion of yourself if you feel someone owes you an answer.
Who the Hell are you? Dudly Dooright? The Great Inquisitor?

Nobody owes you anything. Not an answer, not a comment. If you don't like Smart lads, well done, but no cigar!

My mate 'idi' got chucked out by his wife (oh how we laughed) and has been staying with us for a while. He's now been forgiven (but never forgotton) and is back in his own drum getting in the ear on how he must keep away from other birds! :))
Also he was a bit too fond of my gold watch.

I'm very impressed with you Mike, there's a job waiting for you in the FS if you fancy it. ;)

Idi and I are both very big fans of Gareth Evans having met him some time ago.
At the time I remember saying as we left "That blokes an absolute james hunt and needs locking up in a bin"

Keep your noses clean everyone and remember that old Jack can read NNTP ips plus a bit more.

And before I forget

SHUT IT EVANS.

Walt, you are obviously an intelligent person of high IQ with a broad background of knowledge.

But your contributions to newsgroups would be better appreciated if you refrained from the many inconsequential, shorties, which waste one's time bothering to look at. Your own valuable time is also wasted.

But please do continue, preferably without shorties, to educate us.

I seriously doubt we'd ever be able to carry on a QSO regardless,
Markie...

I speak English fluently and some conversational German and Spanish.

You speak jibberish.

Your "writing" on RRAP, where you have the opportunity to proofread your content before sending it, is horriffic. I can only imagine what it would be like on any of the realtime keyboard modes.

You're devoid of CW skill.

Therefore it's a foregone conclusion that we'll ever have a "QSO" on the Amateur Bands in ANY mode, let alone via the ISS crossband repeater.

> but you avoid the issue of course

Acutally, Markie, YOU are the one on a divergent topic. I was talking about ISS on Amateur Radio.

You pulled it into yet another trash thread as evidenced by your retasking of the subject line to something other than the original topic.

You're repling too? Did you repling also? What's "repling"...?!?!

"oaranoid?"

Someone who doesn't like using manual propulsion in a bass boat?

Perhaps. But your a perverted liar.

Between the two, I'll take paranoia.

You may "question" anything you want.

Yours.

The diversion here is yours, Your Punkiness. I asked a legitimate question about an Amateur Radio related event.

You pulled it into yet another slimefest in only 1 set of exchanges.

most beautiful QSL cards I've ever seen.

Maybe he dropped back in for another seven years.

Maybe he wasn't a student then but is a student now.

Maybe he was a student then but is lying now.

In any case, there's a lie in there somewhere.

To be able to find "school", one has to be able to spell it!

Markie can't carry that in his head long enough to go from the screen to the phone book.

And besides...Markie's already told us that HIS deficits are OUR problem...The rest of the world is expected to learn how to deal with him, not vice versa.

Sure I did.

Only YOU would think that a guy with a dishonorable discharge from the Armed Forces (later changed due to administrative update, NOT a change in the validity of the charges...) is some sort of reputable "source" on military affairs.

Pull your head out of your arse, take a deep breath of non-intestinally fouled air, and re-read Frnakie's posts. They're strewn with them.

You can start with Frankie's latest efforts attempting to affiliate me with 1stBn 24th Marines from a letter to the editor over a parking lot issue.

I said I'd give it to my lawyer for action in ten days.

Done.

No, that's not what I said.

And besides, even after the "trcue", you made even MORE disgusting posts invoking my daughter's memory.

> you file now you lied and comitted fraud

Nope. And I have over 175 "raped his daughter", etc, like posts
SINCE then to prove it.

Don't sweat it.

Nope.

Nope. Perhaps in your twisted mind it appears that way, but then hey, you're Mark Morgan and twisted minds are what you're all about!

You're confusing yourself, Markie.

My family's fine.

My lawyer knows the truth. It's on CD. Both sides of all exchanges for the last 6 months. Including several with Frankie and Brain.

WHAT insults?

Sure I do.

You said "us", a collective plural.

There are many in this forum with whom I have already had an on-the-air QSO with.

That makes your "us" inaccurate.

Now, if you'd care to specify who "us" is, (*other than the Feeble Five, only three of whom are licensed and I doubt that two of those three could get enough RF out to be heard across town...) then your statement could be ammended to be correct.

> > I already have SEVERAL RRAPers in the log. A couple of them more

So it means your statement above is wrong.

As I said above, it just means you can't radiate enough RF to be heard anywhere.

There's two pedos in this forum, Markie. Hans is not one of them, and neither am I.

No...the US Mail (Us Mail is the "Letters" section of a women's magazine) won't be able to deliver YOUR card to Hans if your actual penmanship is even 1/10th as bad as the crap you litter RRAP with.

The good part about that is, however, that the US Postal Service has a dead letters file...No internet archives eating up bandwidth to hold illegible crap in.

again you deny that I have the same rights you do Robeson

i don't have to be the moderator to ask a question or comment on a

then you lied a few line up you sted " Not unless you care to state now for the record that you have assumed moderatorship for RRAP, Markie." in response to "yes it my place or anyone else that chooses"

which was my response to"It's not your's to question."

indeed you just made the stament "It's not your's to question." a lie unles you were lying just now when you typed "You may "question" anything you want."

you have said in one thread that I am allowed to A and not allowed A

Google provides that you're an idiot, making an even BIGGER idiot of yourself, Markie.

Your travesty at the sake of my daughter does.

You asked if I had sex with me?

Perhaps a schizo such as yourself might find that a viable option, but I don't.

Nope. You're an idiot. That's a fact. Sorry you don't like it.
Almost everyone here has tried to get you to STOP being an idiot, but you do seem to like it so much.

There's nothing here for me to be concerned about, Markie...

YOU on the otherhand already have a mental health record and a record of suspicion in at least TWO law enforcement jurisdictions.

Hey, Wee Woger, shouldn't you check posts more carefully? First you think that you can see an AT&T IP address through what you claim is an Icelandic proxy server (yeah, right), and next you follow that faux pas up by ignoring the fact that the "Saturday night" posts were made on Sunday morning! (29 Jan 2006 06:46:15 -0800 to be exact)

Actually, I stand by my original statement: You don't NEED crossband capability to use the ISS repeater.

I made contacts through AMSAT way back in the early 70's when the OSCAR series of the 60's was being continued. It boiled down to being a novelty activity for hams, but one which only imitated what communications engineers and other professionals had pioneered long before hams used a satellite. In fact, most OSCAR satellites were stuffed into the unused space in government launch vehicles and were essentially CARE packages from those who were doing the real pioneering work.

I see. And I suppose that, when you decide to cross a river, you eschew the nearby bridges in favor of swimming across instead. Do you also use a horse instead of choosing to own a car?

> Some can say that about FM, or SSB, or CW, or any other mode.

Anyone can turn on a transceiver and push a button. There's no real skill in that either.

But there is skill in figuring out optimal voice sampling and compression techniques, combining them with the optimal IP protocol (UDP/IP), and then writing and installing VoIP software to accomplish that end, followed by setting up servers and repeaters to support it. In fact, I submit that the hams who embraced the Internet and developed those methods are among the most technically skilled members of the amateur community.

If all you do is push a button, then you're an appliance operator in my estimation.

indeed you don't and trying to use crossband capcity can in fact be

Steve is of the S&M school of licensing claiming we must suffer to get

No biggie. The Commission finally got around to CORRECTING a few long-standing out-of-date things in Part 97. :-)

In case anyone is bothering to check, I brought up that OUT OF DATE definition several years ago in here. :-)

>>From the FCC:

>97.309(a) to conform to the current Radio Regulations definitions."

Heh heh heh. Those "current Radio Regulation definitions" have been OUT OF DATE for a mere 8+ years (minimum) according to my oldest paper-printed copy of Title 47 C.F.R. (5 volumes), dated 1997. Newest I have is dated 2005.

What is interesting is that this R&O did NOT make it into the Federal Register in 2006 or 2005. I've been tracking the Federal Register since WT Docket 05-235 was opened.

That R&O is NOT on the Amateur Radio page of the Wireless Telecommunications Bureau at the FCC website. There's only one current topic shown on that page, the previous one being from 2002.

If one looks for the current Part 97 regulations from the GPO all that appears there is the early 2005 version. It isn't up-to-date for the public.

In general, the public just isn't being notified of the LATEST information by the Commission.

Apparently one has to go to the Commission's "Consumer" pages to find out if there are any RMs (petitions) open for content or even this R&O taking care of updating Part 97!

Sociopathic in that Dudly can't understand others, is not Just another case of "Dudley-ism" (that late novelist Ernest K.

Gann wrote about). Impersonation. Wanna-be heroics, "standing tall" in uniforms, getting "respect" for showing a manly, fierce heroic visage. Still a FAKE, though.

Here in Hollywood those are known as "actors" and get paid for what they do. :-)

>And I'm still curious about Robeson's seven (7) hostile actions. When

His battery is dead so he can't get the "starter" going.

He was NEVER IN any "seven hostile actions" (other than bar fights).

Those "seven hostile actions" would be recorded on his DD-214.
Problem is, he doesn't have any that can be recorded and he hasn't yet copied his DD-214, copied his "honorable discharge", or copied any sort of documentation proving his case.

Irrelevant. Jimmie has gone over to the "dark side" anyway, so all he can do is repost those bimonthly "active-duty ham" numbers. Davie condones Dudly. Davie and Dudly are very much alike: Can't tell either of them anything. :-)

Dudly will NOT refrain. He lives vicariously in his personna on the net, imagination in overdrive. It's probably better than his personal life.

>How you been, Len?

Very well, thank you. I just look in here about twice a week and see the usual Dudly Damnations of All Who Disagree With Him and then erase the Google message bundles. Those aren't worth the magnetic flux in microscopic areas of my hard drive. :-)

I have improved my skim-reading abilities, fast-forwarding through all those "argument" postings, the nonsense "FAQs" from across the Pond, and the Anony-mousies cussing up a storm. :-) Have you noticed that Dudly is picking up on an altered form of "anony-mousie"? :-)

Back to Real Life...

The fool here is you, Dud. You have no idea what you're getting yourself into by pissing off Mope. Provoke the beast at your own risk.

Had a bad case of the flu a couple of weeks ago. Kept me out of work three days and eating crackers for a week. Went to Georgia most of last week for meeting, glad to be in my own bed again.

yes in theory but it rarely happens outside of special forces or so the rumor goes and the recalls of of suicidal types need for the rae US suacide bombing
the un porven rumor is supposed to the basis forthe ONeil character in

Not true, the station is in fact very LEGAL, I've use to work space station MIR on a handheld on 2 meters both voice and packet, I've also worked oscar 10 which was 10 meters up, 2 meters down or the other way around I forget it was long ago.

Very bad. You talking non-free world station with Russian call who not even in teritory so you violate presidental order big time.
Better hope Bush and NSA not read you post or you will get in hot water. FCC has list of contries can not work legally and you violeated it most likely.

I guess you're nervious that you may have broken the law too, eh?
Maybe you can share a cell with Todd, and it won't be so lonely in jail.

Yepper! If you QRZ Steve's call, then QRZ that address another callsign will show. Then if you Google her call on this group...

And I see on QRZ that K4CAP has been forked over to someone near Maxwell AFB, HQ of the Air Force's Civil Air Patrol (CAP). What a coincidence.

The VEC surrogates of the FCC continue to deny access to HF frequencies for a mode that the FCC cannot define.

And they still administer Farnsworth Exams, not mentioned in Part 97 at all.

becuase at the times and places I know where I am you nor anyone else can observe me at the the PC even if you were trespassing you could not see in the house with the fences none can see into the house from any point under public control

to get it to the yard near the house one would have to climb a 6 foot that is not strong to hold even a small child therefore mark would be left by damaging it

At some place there is a receiver and a transmitter operating on different bands in order to operate the ISS crossband repeater.

YOU may not have it at your "station"...However it's still required. You're simply acting as the remote operator of someone else's Amateur station.

Which does not speak to your station NOW. Since you do not include a callsign, all I can do is "assume" that this is a bit of blustery buffoonery by Lennie the Licenseless or someone like him quoting the works of others. I see a lot of that "professional engineers are better than hams" rhetoric there.

Nope. But then neither of them is "radio". I am a licensed Amateur RADIO operator because I enjoy operating RADIOS.

If I were an Olympic swimmer I just might cross that river IN it rather than over it, and if I were Amish, I'd use that horse to get around rather than a car.

OK.

Just turn on a radio and push a button. Any button.

Talk to anyone without selecting the right frequency, split, mode, antenna, etc etc etc ...?!?!

Or does it take a bit of knowledge and skill to get that radio working into a proper antenna, on the proper frequency to actually make that contact...?!?!

Did you make your alleged OSCAR contacts by just "pushing a button", or did you have to know a bit about Kleperian tables, AOS/LOS schedules, polarization techniques, Doppler effect...?!?!

I submit that there is a whole flock of guys out thre who just down loaded the software and got on the computer when they were told to. I know of at least 2 or three locally who have done exactly that.

> If all you do is push a button, then you're an appliance operator in

Judging by the foregoing statements, I'd say you're probably not a licensed Amateur and are just pulling rabbits out of someone else's hat. And as for applicance operators, who built YOUR computer...?!?!

Sure it is.

At some point in time there HAS to be a crossband operating Amateur Radio station to make this work. The ISS repeater is listening on 70 centimeters. It's retransmitting on 2 meters. THAT is crossband operation.

SOMEone had to take the time to set up the gear, put the antennas up, etc etc etc to make it work. There are terrestrial Amateur RADIO stations that are operating in that configuration.

The "slughtist"...?!?!?

More made up words, Markie.

GET A DICTIONARY!

And as for the "disagreeing", I wasn't the one who initiated that exchange. All I wanted to know was who in our "circle" were set up to work ISS.

How's that?

Since you snipped the relevent parts of the paragraphs, all is left is something for you to try and snipe at.

Didn't work.

I am sure you are, Markie.

Prove any of my statements inaccurate...

"Larry" is the one who made some silly comments about just "push(ing) a button"...Not me.

WHAT...?!?!

What's "sonituing"...?!?!? "Escalte"...?!?!? Isn't that a new model of Cadillac?

And Markie...Prove any of the foregoing paragraph wrong.

Do YOU know what it takes to work through ISS? Can you access the satellites? Did you ever get a QSL card from MIR, even for an SWL logging?

"Miciron"... I think that was a "planet" in an episode ot ST:TNG > an interesting case study this one s i t shows Steve acting with out > any past hsitory with the guy and he chooses to fight

No fight, Markie. Someone without the cajones to identify him/herself throws in some slap-in-the-face comments to a straight forward, no "insults" post.

I appreciate that some people like using VoIP over real radios.
I've never once said "that's not real Ham Radio". However "Larry" here wanted to dig in and try to impress us with how "modern" his way is over direct contact communication with the ISS via Amateur Radio.
That's MY prefered way of communicating, and if he cares to have his preferences respected, he didn't need to dive in like he did. And in the long run, "my" way still requires a bit more skill and technique than Larry putting a sound card in his pooter.

His comments have Lennism written all over them. That's not to say that Lennie wrote them, it's just the same "ideal". That YOU were so quick to jump in and "defend" them only reinforces that concept.

So who has to go through your trash?

Believe it or not, Markie, technology exists and is available to

Sure I can alter it. Just like YOU altered my callsign to that of someone else for two months...And like YOU "alter" definitions to suit your need regardless of the content or context of the conversation.

See, Markie...this is NOT a "Have Your Cake And Eat It Too" world.

Sure it is.

Is YOUR name "Mark"...?!?! Even if you SAY so, since YOU claim that's not "proof", I guess I could just start calling you....Uhhh...How's MORK hit ya...?!?!

Yep...Study up on the law so you can be a GOOD little "pedo", just like Toiddie...

OF course Toiddie likes cartoon kiddies, since REAL people scare the bee-jeebers out of him. A REAL 8-year old would probably make him soil his hot-dog stand apron.

I guess good old heterosexual preferences WOULD seem "deviant" to you, Markie...Or at least YOU would have to MAKE them seem deviant in order to deflect criticism from YOUR inappropriate behaviour.

Hmmmmmmmmmm....Still no evidence that it's a "woman", Markie, and if "she" is your "wife", did "she" not respect you enough to take your

BTW...That was a rhetorical question. What self-respecting woman

What you posted was anything BUT English. At least not COMPOSITION. I'll give you points for making some words. But the REAL comprehensible sentence.

Don't worry about answering that...Everyone here already KNOWS

What forgery?

You ARE a creep and you ARE a crap stain. Sh where's the "forgery?

(Perhaps next time you'll think twice before going on a spree of misrepresenting someone else's attributions...ie your "KY4Z" episodes.....)

Nope. It's a fact. One documented in thousands of posts under any one of 3 dozen different screen names.

Nope.

It's a demonstrated fact.

Why don't you spend an hour or two re-arranging those words into something a bit more comprehensible, Markie...?!?!

Nope.

No one here "supports" you. Even "bb" said you're being an ###hole.

Sure they have.

But like the answers you said I didn't give you back in November and December, you simply refuse to accept anything that doesn't fit YOUR ideas.

There's nothing "drifting" about it.

You're a foul mouthed, selfish, functionally illiterate deviant punk, and I make fun of it with ease.

After all, YOU provide the material for me to work with!

What's "delsuonal"...?!?!

Meaning you obviously don't pay close attention to your enviroment.

Which one of those words did you not understand?

Yes it does.

Your statement, as you wrote it, was inclusive of all who post here. Obviosuly that is NOT the case.

Dave (K8MN), Hans (K0HB), and Jim (N2EY), among others ahve all acknowledged that we've had on-the-air QSO's.

Ergo your statement was and IS false.

Sure I do.

I speak English, the same language you purport to use.

Your statement included all who post here by the composition in which you phrased the statement.

Ergo it was false.

You've had a "QSO" with Frank?

No I'm not.

In all these years I've not heard nor seen a single refrence to Brian being able to radiate any RF at all from an active station.
Indeed, he's demonstrated some significant confusion about being able to erect antennas without assistance.

So, tell us about all of your on-the-air accomplishments, Markie.

If I remember correctly, your last VHF rig was a couple of those Ramsey diode-matrix operated kits.

Nice try at wordsmithing.

Of course Frankie is "all about" trying to "be" things without going the full measure to "be" those things...Here he's trying to be a "radio amateur" without REALLY being a Radio Amateur.

He tried being a United States Marine without doing all the things that are required of a Marine, and subsequently got sent home.

Seems there's a pattern here.

In the United States (and indeed in the English speaking world) a Radio Amateur is a person who has passed a set of examinations that results in the issuance of a Radio Amateur station and/or operator license by the applicant's government.

Frankie doesn't have one of those. Neither does Lennie.

Neither of them are Radio Amateurs.

They haven't got what it takes.

My INITIAL question was about operating the CROSSBAND REPEATER in the first place, and nothing you have posted here changes any of that.

Your "uplink" frequencies are accurate ONLY for direct voice contacts with the crew or packet uplinks to the NA1SS autobot...NOT the repeater.

If you wish to work the CROSSBAND REPEATER you must have the requisite equipment (unless, of course, you're just going to use someone ELSE'S equipment by using Echolink.....But you are STILL operating CROSSBAND)

To the best of my knowledge, he's not a resident of this group.
Moreover, despite the childish whinings of KB9RQZ, there's not a person here who's been in 1 seconds worth of danger due to "stalkers".

It's a lame excuse for not having any conviction.

Oh geeze....NO WONDER you sound like Lennie!

And no wonder "Ham Radio" is a footnote in Amateur Radio rather than an active part of it!

You ARE "bloviating".

I've pointed out in each and every post where I was discussing the crossband REPEATER and you keep trying to discuss something else.

The ONLY Amateur Radio voice repeater on the ISS is the CROSSBAND
one.

And a "####ing contest" certainly WAS your objective when you found it necessary to "answer" an inquiry with answers that were, in their very nature, confrontational and NOT within the parameters of the initial inquiry.

It will be an interesting game for sure. The Hawks are one of the best NFL teams I've seen in years -- I'm really suprised that the Steelers are favored by 4 points. The only way Seattle can lose is if they rack up too many penalties or if Hasslebeck goes down, IMO.

Sure it can. Markie, NIGHT VISION technology has been available to the general public for a decade now.

Telephoto technology has been around for over 100 years.
Centuries if you consider the works of Galilieo, etc...

You really need to put on boots and a jacket and walk the perimeter looking back into the house, Markie...And actually walk into the treeline a few meters too. You'll be shocked at what the well equipped observer can see.

No...You continue to indicate that there ARE containers to be concerned about.

Sure "at all".

No, you cannot. One does not even need to enter your residence to be face-to-face with you, Markie. Spectral imaging allows a properly equipped observer to be able to obeserve your exhaled breath. Bingo, ETOH.

I am sure "she's" a great "owman".

She probably get's you to say "ow" before she even raises a whip to you.

And Markie...95% of all women in the United States take thier husband's last name when they get married.

Obviously yours was one of those who didn't want anyone to know
"she" was "married" to you.

Can't say I blame "her".

> this is hardly the place for that discusion

Why not? YOU brought her up.

Last week YOU created a whole new thread to "introduce" us to the fact that your "squeeze" passed "her" Technician test last week. Now it's "out there" and you're wenching about talking about "her"...?!?!

You keep telling me to "get this through your think skull" about several subjects...

Well, your blockheadedness, get this through YOURS...

IF YOU DON'T WANT A SUBJECT DISCUSSED, DON'T BRING IT UP OR DISCUSS IT YOURSELF IN THE NEWSGROUP!

You two morons couldn't scrape up enough funds to do anything even if you both used your aluminum can cache that you use to cash in and buy booze with the money.

Ooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooh!

About 30 seconds later I am on my way to file personal complaints
IN TAYLORVILLE that include your porno sites, etc with Taylorville City
PD.

Then I stop at every church and synagogue within 100 miles of Taylorville and drop some of your more colorful posts and pro-porno ravings. I'll provide them your picture, your family name and address, and your business "on the square" in Taylorville

Maybe I'll also stop in at the office where your PRESENT ISP is located and have a chat with them, too!

So...Send the fifty bucks, Toiddie, and let the games begin!

Ooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooh!

About 30 seconds later I am on my way to file personal complaints
PD.

Then I stop at every church and synagogue within 100 miles of Taylorville and drop some of your more colorful posts and pro-porno
ravings. I'll provide them your picture, your family name and address,
and your business "on the square" in Taylorville

located and have a chat with them, too!

So...Send the fifty bucks, Toiddie, and let the games begin!

Begging for booze money already today, Markie? Your begging on the street corner didn't get any results, huh?

Todd forward this to cops and FBI

they will do nothing about it, for Now

you want it on file if he carries though on this threat

second decide how much trouble the ass is worth if you are going to do it do it and make a note about how esay it is to find out stuff online as you do

Markie...

I do not need to learn to spell the word.

It's spelled that way as a "trademark" and to blend it with Markie.

Your inane "learn to spell steve" posts are useless other than to take up space and keep you occupied.

And Markie...YOU of ALL PEOPLE do NOT have ANY business suggesting how others spell. I am still 1000-to-1 up on you on typos. Easily.

Yeah, Toiddie...go ahead and send this to the cops and the FBI.

SEND them a big red flag that says "I Am An Idiot And This Proves
It".

Markie, the LAST thing Toiddie wants to do is send ANYthing to ANY law enforcement agency that even remotely rubs HIS misdeeds in their noses, and that's EXACTLY what will happen!

Toiddie's bragging about his kiddie porn sites, his blatant hatred and disrespect for law enforcement at all levels, and his wanton flaunting of his violations of numerous federal laws and regulations is the LAST thing he needs!

"One group of people who claim to be of the standard of Radio Hams but who are in reality nothing more than an apology for the failure of a CBer are those class B licensees who falsely proclaimed that they were against
the use of a Morse Test to control access to the HF bands, until, that is, a test was introduced at their intellectual level, the intellectual level of 6-year-olds. "

Hold on a mo. I'm a class B licence holder - G8LIR, and have been for, oh about 30 years I think. My main interest was in fast scan ATV on 70 Cms and 23cms, and with a small team we competed in many ATV contests, setting new (and I think unbroken) records. All our equipment was home built - yes I do mean ALL - including narrow band ATV receivers utilising inline cavities and integrating receivers to subtract noise and reveal lost images when only a weak sync pulse was available. We also DESIGNED and built the linear amplifiers using 4cx250's in push pull, with 2kv on the anodes and tuneable cavities (not copied designs). And, oh yes, we designed filters using laplace transforms to calculate the correct vaues for the inductors, wound them ourselves and tuned then with second hand spectrum analysers.

Now to me, that level of technical expertise speaks to a certain intellectual level over a 6 year olds.

I was considering returning to the hobby, but frankly the view in this FAQ has put me off.

Anyone care to comment ?

Why indeed.

This will be so more effective...and immediate.

What "stalking"...?!?!?

You're fixated on that word, Markie.

It's only "stalking" if there's an attempt at direct contact.

THAT won't be a happening thing.

What YOU can't comprehend, Mr Pedo, is that MOST people do NOT want to be involved in your pedophillic behaviour, even by association.

Legal or not, keep it to yourself or you'll keep getting the responses you are getting now.

And one day when you finally DO screw up and get caught with the 'Real Deal', some "girlfriend" inside is gonna tear up that virgin booty of yours like there's no tomorrow just BECAUSE you were "into"

OK, Markie...if you say so.

I've provided you quotes of his stuoid stuff and references to the specific federal regulations he's flaunting.

You can try to pooh-pooh it off all you want, but it won't change facts.

That you tried to hide the fact that YOU are responsible for "her"
name being in this forum.

Your first new thread of the day tried to suggest that I was responsible for that until the attributes were followed.

Once again, YOU stepped on your OWN toes, now you want to "blame" someone else!

NOW it's JUST about "ham radio..."

Two days ago I put in a post to try and stir some interest in an actual RADIO discussion and you tried to blow that off as "not the

Where's the picture?

Until we see a picture, it's just your "word" and so far, your "word" has been pretty thin on facts!

Like I said...A picture with you holding a current newspaper to validate the date and "her" holding a sign stating that "she" is Mrs.
Mork Moron...Excuse me...Mrs Mark Morgan...will be sufficient. You can e mail it directly to me and it will never see the light of day past my

"frivilous"

I don't need to prove anything.

YOU are the one who bragged about flying an illegally modified

There's nothing "frivilous" about flying an illegally modified aircraft, even if it is "only" Part 103.

The person who wrote the so-called 'faq' was himself a B licensee for many years, before taking the morse test and getting an A. The excuse he trotted out for this - after much prompting about the more-than-a-decade gap between these two events - was 'an interest in VHF/UHF techniques'.

Unfortunately for this belated post-justification, he has never published what he accomplished in that extended period.

It is said that 'empty vessels make the most noise'.

If you want to return to the hobby, then do so and enjoy it. Do not be put off by someone who doesn't believe there is such a thing as 'slope detection', or who sold an FT-101 because the tune-up pages were missing from the manual.....don't ask......

Uh huh.

Markie, unfortunately I ahve to deal with Children's Protective Services in the course of my employ EVERY WEEK at least once or twice.

I've had a chance to discuss Toddie's "animee"-vs-pono.

If Toiddie lived in TN and the CPS knew he was into this, and there were kids in his home, CPS would be on him like white on rice...

And they inform me that this is pretty much SOP everywhere...

Like I said...they view animee porno as the "Where There's Smoke, There's Fire" syndrome.

> > That's a "Where There's Smoke There's Fire" thing.

> not really they may look his stuff but they know the deal

They know the animee itself won't get him popped.

But it DOES get his name "on the list".

> you are just some religous zeolot...SNIP

"religious" "zealot"

Nope. I just think all forms of "entertainment" that portray any hint or suggestion of children being used for the sexual gratification of any person shold be destroyed, and the producers, providers and purveyors of it should be publically executed.

And that's my liberal point of view.

> (UNSNIP)...and then they consider if they want to" Martha Stewar"t you Did that mean something?

You're equating child pornography with insider stock dealings?

Yes, indeed.

You can discount without loss anything the writer of that so-called "FAQ" has written, is writing, or will ever write. He attempts to demean people who have attained heights he can't even see, much less comprehend. He has nothing to say, and insists on doing so at length.

Since I am kill filing this thread (and many others) anyway.

just a word of advice, your ISP is now aware of your intent. should you carry it out, I am fairly certain that they will take action against you for failing to abide by the Terms of Service agreement you have, as well as the Acceptable Use Policy you agreed to.

do it and you'd better find yourself another ISP.

wellthat wasn't the reference but indeed If Todd sends the letter t
the FBI they will ignore for now

if something happenes to him they wil dust it off but what I meant is puting his "alleged Kiddy porn" in front oft them will gte ignored

well well well...

it seems that after my filter got done with this group, only 15 postings of the estimated 6000 in the last month alone rated as relevant (to rec.radio.amateur.POLICY).

of the rest, it devolved into: backstabbing, name calling, accusations of child porn or other illegal activities and various other non-relevant junk.

is anyone going to discuss any REAL policy issues dealing with Amateur radio?

The 30 Steps below will help all New Hams, it will also help you to find others just like yourself. These 30 steps should also be added to the present writtens.

Step One: Use as many "Q" signals as possible. Yes, I know they were invented solely for CW and are totally inappropriate for two meter FM, but they are fun and entertaining. They keep people guessing as to what you really meant. I.E. "I'm going to QSY to the phone." Can you really change frequencies to the phone? QSL used to mean, "I am acknowledging receipt", but now it appears to mean, "yes" or "OK". I guess I missed it when the ARRL changed the meaning. It is also best to use "OK" and "QSL" together. Redundancy is the better part of Lid-dom.

Step Two: Never laugh when you can say "HI HI". No one will ever know you aren't a long time CW rag-chewer if you don't tell them. They'll think you've been on since the days of Marconi.

Step Three: Utilize an alternative vocabulary. Use words like "destinated" and "negatory". It's OK to make up your own words here. I.E. "Yeah Tom, I "pheelbart zaphonix" occasionally myself."

Step Four: Always say "XX4XXX" (Insert your own call) "for I.D." As mentioned in Step One, anything that creates redundancy is always encouraged. That's why we have the Department of Redundancy Department. (Please note that you can follow your call with "for identification purposes" instead of "for I.D." While taking longer to say, it is worth more "LID points".

Step Five: The better the copy on two meter FM, the more you should use phonetics. Names should be especially used if they are short or common ones. I.E. "My name is Al... Alpha Lima" or "Jack.. Juliet Alpha Charlie Kilo." If at all possible use the less common HF phonetics "A4SM... America, Number Four, Sugar Mexico." And for maximum "LID points", make up unintelligible phonetics. "My name is Bob... Billibong Oregano Bumperpool."

Step Six: Always give the calls of yourself and everyone who is (or has been) in the group, whether they are still there or not. While this has been unnecessary for years, it is still a great memory test. You may also use "and the group" if you are an "old timer" or just have a bad memory. Extra points for saying everyone's call and then clearing in a silly way "K2PKK, Chow, Chow."

Step Seven: Whenever possible, use the wrong terminology. It keeps people guessing. Use "modulation" when you mean "deviation", and vice-versa.

Step Eight: If someone asks for a break, always finish your turn, taking as long as possible before turning it over. Whenever possible, pass it around a few times first. This will discourage the breaker, and if it is an emergency, encourage him to switch to another repeater and not bother you.

Step Nine: Always ask involved questions of the person who is trying to sign out. Never let him get by with just a "yes" or "no" answer. Make it a question that will take him a long time to answer.

Step Ten: The less you know on a subject, the more you should speculate about it in the roundtable. Also the amount of time you spend on the subject should be inversely proportionate to your knowledge of the subject even though you have no damn clue.

Step Eleven: Always make sure you try to communicate with only a handheld and a rubber duck antenna. Also, make sure you work through a repeater that you can hear very well, but it cannot hear you. This will put out a kind of "LID mating call": "Well, Joe, I can hear the repeater just fine here. I wonder why it can't hear me?" You will score maximum LID points if you are mobile, and with the radio lying in the passenger seat.

Step Twelve: If you hear two amateurs start a conversation, wait until they are twenty seconds into their contact, and then break in to make a call, or better yet to use the auto-patch. Make sure you keep the repeater tied up for at least three minutes. This way, once the two have re-established contact, they won't even remember what they were talking about.

Step Thirteen: You hear someone on the repeater giving directions to a visiting amateur. Even if the directions are good, make sure you break in with your own "alternate route but better way to get there" version. This is most effective with several other "would-be LIDs", each giving a different route. By the time the visiting amateur unscrambles all the street names whizzing by in his mind, he should have moved out of the range of the repeater. This keeps you from having to stick around to help the guy get back out of town, later.

Step Fourteen: If an annoying station is bothering you, make sure your other "LID" buddies have a "coded" frequency list. Even though "CODES" are strictly forbidden on Amateur Radio, it's really neat to practice "James Bond" tactics.

Step Fifteen: Always use the National Calling Frequency for general conversations. The more uninteresting, the longer you should use it. Extra points are awarded if you have recently move from an adjacent frequency for no reason. Make sure when DX is "rolling" in on 52.525 that you hang out there and talk to your friends five miles down the road about the good old CB days!

Step Sixteen: Make sure that if you have a personal problem with someone, you should voice your opinion in a public forum, especially a net. Make sure you give their name, call, and any other identifying remarks. For maximum points, make sure the person in question is not on the repeater, or not available.

Step Seventeen: Make sure you say the first few words of each transmission twice, especially if it is the same thing each time. Like "roger, roger" or "fine business, fine business". I cannot stress enough about encouraging redundancy.

Step Eighteen: If you hear a conversation on a local repeater, break in and ask how each station is receiving you. Of course they will only see the signal of the repeater you are using, but it's that magic moment when you can find a fellow "LID", and get the report. Extra points are awarded if you are using a base station, and the repeater is less than twenty-five air miles from you.

Step Nineteen: Use the repeater for an hour or two at a time, preventing others from using it. Better yet, do it on a daily basis. Your quest is to make people so sick of hearing your voice every time they turn on their radio, they'll move to another frequency. This way you'll lighten the load on the repeater, leaving even more time for you to talk on it.

Step Twenty: See just how much flutter you can generate by operating at handheld power levels too far away from the repeater. Engage people in conversations when you know they wont be able to copy half of what your saying. Even when they say your uncopyable, continue to string them along by making further transmissions. See just how frustrated you can make the other amateur before he finally signs off in disgust.

Step Twenty One: Use lots of radio jargon. After all, it makes you feel important using words ordinary people don't say. Who cares if it makes you sound like you just fell off Channel 19 on the citizen's Band? Use phrases such as "Roger on that", "10-4", "I'm on the side", "Your making the trip" and "Negatory on that".

Step Twenty Two: Use excessive microphone gain. See just how loud you can make your audio. Make sure the audio gain is so high that other amateurs can hear any bugs crawling on your floor. If mobile, make sure the wind noise is loud enough that others have to strain to pick your words out from all the racket.

Step Twenty Three: Start every transmission with the word "Roger" or "QSL". Sure, you don't need to acknowledge that you received the other transmission in full. After all, you would simply ask for a repeat if you missed something. But consider it your gift to the other amateur to give him solace every few seconds that his transmissions are being received.

Step Twenty Four: When looking for a contact on a repeater, always say your "listening" or "monitoring" multiple times. I've always found that at least a half dozen times or so is good. Repeating your multiple "listening" ID's every 10 to 15 seconds is even better. Those people who didn't want to talk to you will eventually call you, hoping you'll go away after you have finally made a contact.

Step Twenty Five: Always use a repeater, even if you can work the other station easily on simplex ... especially if you can make the contact on simplex. The coverage of the repeater you use should be inversely proportional to your distance from the other station.

Step Twenty Six: When on repeaters using courtesy tones, you should always say "over". Courtesy tones are designed to let everyone know when you have unkeyed but don't let that stop you. Say "over", "back to you" or "go ahead". It serves no useful purpose but don't worry, it's still fun!

Step Twenty Seven: Use the repeater's autopatch for frivolous routine calls... especially during morning or evening commute times. While pulling into the neighborhood, call home to let them know you'll be there in two minutes.... or, call your spouse to complain about the bad day you had at work. After all, the club has "measured rate" service on their phone line so they get charged for each autopatch call. Your endeavor is to make so many patches in a year that you cost the club at least $20 in phone bills. That way you'll feel you got your money's worth for your dues!

Step Twenty Eight: Never say "My name is ....." It makes you sound human. If at all possible, use one of the following phrases: a) "The personal here is ..." b) "The handle here is..."

Step Twenty Nine: Use "73" and "88" incorrectly. Both are already considered plural, but add a "s" to the end anyway. Say "73's" or "88's". Who cares if it means "best regards" and "love and kisses." Better yet, say "seventy thirds"! (By the way, seventy thirds equals about 23.3).

Step Thirty: If the repeater is off the air for service, complain about the fact that it was off the air as soon as it's turned back on. Act as though your entire day has been ruined because the repeater wasn't available when you wanted to use it. Even thought you have never paid a penny to help out with the upkeep of it.

The point of view posted by "Orator for Decency" is not the FAQ for this newsgroup. It is in fact the deranged rantings of one Gareth Alun Evans, ex-G8DXY, G4SDW. He posts this "FAQ" approximately every week, apparently trolling for trouble (and frequently finding it!) Those that react to his FAQ are then subjected to systematic harassment.

If G4SDW learns of the employer of the individual who reacts, he makes a nuisance of himself there:
http://groups.google.com/group/uk.radio.amateur/msg/bc717f554a1c9469?dmode=source

If G4SDW finds that the individual who reacts has a hobby outside amateur radio, he makes a nuisance of himself in newsgroups relating to that hobby:
http://groups.google.com/group/uk.radio.amateur/msg/8443401f58f6cbbf?dmode=source

When he fails to get a reaction to the harassment described above, he will start making offensive posts using ludicrous anagrams of the individuals name:
http://groups.google.com/group/uk.radio.amateur/msg/7ff9b267900f1c9e?dmode=source

But amateur radio is not Gareth's only hobbyhorse. He frequently airs his unorthodox views on....

The point of view posted by "Orator for Decency" is not the FAQ for this newsgroup. It is in fact the deranged rantings of one Gareth Alun Evans, ex-G8DXY, G4SDW. He posts this "FAQ" approximately every week, apparently trolling for trouble (and frequently finding it!) Those that react to his FAQ are then subjected to systematic harassment.

If G4SDW learns of the employer of the individual who reacts, he makes a nuisance of himself there:
http://groups.google.com/group/uk.radio.amateur/msg/bc717f554a1c9469?dmode=source

If G4SDW finds that the individual who reacts has a hobby outside amateur radio, he makes a nuisance of himself in newsgroups relating to that hobby:
http://groups.google.com/group/uk.radio.amateur/msg/8443401f58f6cbbf?dmode=source

When he fails to get a reaction to the harassment described above, he will start making offensive posts using ludicrous anagrams of the individuals name:
http://groups.google.com/group/uk.radio.amateur/msg/7ff9b267900f1c9e?dmode=source

But amateur radio is not Gareth's only hobbyhorse. He frequently airs his unorthodox views on....

>That portrays prepubescent characters participating in adult-like >sex acts.

The problem is though, the vast majority of Anime Characters that are out there (and there is a LOT) look as though they are underaged. there is really nothing in anime to determine how old an anime character is. In Anime a character may look ten years old but in fact could really be twenty, and vice a versa. An to answer something from something you say on another thread about "where there's smoke there's fire" (whatever you mean by that) does not necessary hold truth. The material on my website falls into the category of "virtual porn" Virtual porn and child porn is legal in the United states. Child Porn is legal, the part that makes it illegal is the process on how it's created (the sexual abuse of children) (Feber V California US Supreme Court 1973) Virtual child porn is VERY legal on the grounds that the children are created from someone imagination, and thus no sexual abuse of a real child. (Ashcroft v FSC, US Supreme Court 2003) The Government in it arguments in Ashcroft v. FSC argued that although no real children was harmed in the creation of it, children could be incised by the pictures, the US Supreme court throw that argument out as well on the grounds that there was no evidence to link virtual child porn to real sexual abuse. The Supreme Court also stated that if there was a big demand from virtual child porn for pedophile then the demand for he real stuff wouldn't be in such high demand. In other REAL Child Porn lover look for the real stuff, not the animated stuff.

First off I don't remember using the F word when it came to the FAA, now the FCC, that I would vouch for...and the FCC is well aware of how I think of them, long before you. As for local Law Enforcement you'll have to refresh my memory. The Vast majority of the time on these newsgroups I'm bashing one group....I take it back three groups, The FCC, ARRL and the NAB. I've also been known to throw punches at the RIAA and MPAA.

> I don't need to prove anything.

The point is steve I have the right to get on here and bash a government agency, that is protected by the Constitution. Second without actually proof that I did what I said I did on here then it basically falls under the same category as here say which is NOT uphold-able in a court of law. That's why the FCC wouldn't do shit, unless they have actually proof that I'm doing something illegal they aren't going to do anything same-thing with FAA unless they have actually proof that I was fly they can't do shit. you have to have actual evidence to prove that I violated Federal Law.

>ultralight.

Bragging about doing something dose not necessary mean he did it.

Hello, Frank

My thought is to not try and turn fm into rec.radio.amateur.policy and flame newcomers. I had someone once tell me his "preferred personal" (gad, I did cringe, but didn't let on). I simply replied that my name was Jim.

Only one time someone got to me. I think it was one of the "radio police" that was ragging on and on about the necessity of cw (what he was doing on 440 fm beats the heck out of me!). Fortunately, the repeater owner was on and usually hangs out on 40 cw at 30 words per minute plus. Also fortunately, a sidetone was available with the equipment to key it. A quick ask for permission to switch to modulated cw .... and .... 30 plus words per minute broke out.

Shut the guy up :))

well, there are still a few.

I just wish my news client (knode) could filter on things other than threads. it would make things infinitely easier.

Still, one has to wonder at these "children" that have to spew all over the more serious posters.

I didn't miss it. it became irrelevant after the 5 item in the thread (you know, name calling, et al).

as for FCC updating old regulations, thats really nothing more than housekeeping. they either need to come out and state that Morse code will remain a requirement for the forseeable future, or drop it and make the announcement thus. This sitting on the fence sounds a little too much like political stalling to me.

and here, you fail to see the point.
ham radio was never a right, period. it is subject to government regulation and government license and the FCC reserves the right to revoke or modify said license of any licensee at any time and for any reason.

I agreed to those terms when I signed on the dotted line to get my ticket.

if you don't like it, they get the rule changed. its that simple. petition a notice of rule making before the fcc and go through the system. if you choose to work outside of that system, it will run you down without even so much as a seconds thought.

The civil rights we have in the US are not abridged or abrigated in any way otherwise. However, being a licensee means you are held to a "higher standard" of conduct, behavior and speech. Thus, if you violate the rules of conduct for amateur radio, then you have to go through that system (this means the fcc can issue a warning, failure to heed results in a notice of apparent liability <potential fine>, after which, you can file an appeal, etc etc....).

Since Mr. baxter has chosen to exercise his rights in the court of public opinion, instead of abiding the rules and adhering to the proceedure to have his case heard, he has effectively granted the fcc their case.

again, you don't like it, GET THE RULES CHANGED.

that is all there is to it.

There are some very disturbing things being said by amateurs about freebanders. Those of us who use the frequencies between the 11 and 10 meter bands aren't any different from licensed hams. We are good operators and have knowledge of propagation and skip conditions.
We use Yaseus, Kenwoods and Icom radios just like you do, so we know technical issues as well or better. It isn't like we've gone to the local Wal-Mart and bought a Cobra 40-channel close-out for $35, and attached a mag-mounted antenna. We've put thousands of dollars into our equipment, so we respect it and know how to use it.
However, the attitude of some hams toward us is rude and condescending. We are treated like 2nd class citizens, partly because we don't want to be part of the elitist "clique" that amateur radio has become. This should not be. We have the same rights under the constitution as legal hams do.
For those that do not wish to be under Uncle Sam's thumb, freebanding is a viable alternative to getting a ham radio license. What I am saying is that maybe the next time you meet a freebander it might be wise to talk with him before you condemn him.

you are just plain lying sir if that were the K1man would benn off the air years ago as would many others

the FCC is required to follow it own rules

you can see with the NPRM we are dealing with meaning you and me and even K1MAN have right to due process that the FCC must obey it own rules and thoose set out by the US Govt as a whole

He has the sright to fight his case in the Court ofpublic opinion as well nothing in part 97 says he or anyone else is barred from that course

the FCC lacks the power to do so nor it is allowed anywhere in law to deny someone the rights under law becuase they go to the press or the public (except after the issance of a Gag Order whihc is not apliacble in this case no need to change them to allow K1Man to fight his battle as he chooses

indeed proof that you don't discuss you pontifacate I never even mentioned K1Man and yet you brought him up many hams are readyto comdem other hams that don't toe the line they think is right and true

personaly I don't aprove of Freebanding, My approval WILL in crease when the FCC come out with the R&O of DOOM for the coders, till that there justifacation for Freebdaning as Civil disobedance

This is the same peice of garbage that's been floating around the radio groups for years. Not one word's been edited.

Freebanding's illegal and for good reason.

Freebanders are thieves. In usurping these frequencies for thier recreational activities, they have interrupted legal and often critical business and military communications. Freebanders can spin the dial and find themselves on another frequency...those land mobile users can't.

The letter tries to suggest that just because they use state of the art equipment they should be left alone. Bah. I don't care if they have Motorola tatooed on thier butts.

Oh really, besides not being licensed and operating without authorization in spectrum you have no business being in?

if you are such good operators, why haven't you gotten your tickets yet? is there some reason why you can't get your license? or is it that you don't feel like it?

so then, whats the matter with spending $10-$15.00 and taking a relatively easy test and being legal?

rude? condescending? more like "until you get your license, we are not allowed (by force of regulation) to speak with you". there are some in the ham community that would much rather you be drawn and quartered, for they have worked a lot harder than some to achieve their ham ticket (and the equipment with which they exercise that privilege). I am a little more forgiving, but only just (having been a former cb'er, I know the temptation that one has with trying to push the envelope and do what few others have done).

remember this, those who choose to exercise outside the law are still subject to its rules. Thats the way the current system works. Don't like it? get it changed, but quit whining about your illegal activities. all you do is serve notice to others how exceptionally foolish you are.

legal and proud of it!

really. how so?

since this has now devolved into accusation and name calling, it will now be marked as irrelevant and dismissed. nice try. read the fine print next ok, then explain this statement as sent by the FCC to Mr. Baxter:

"you should be aware that all Amateur frequencies are shared. You have no greater rights whatsoever to an Amateur Radio frequency than any other Amateur Radio operator."

this statement also implies that because such frequencies are often shared (with commercial services) this this regulation also applies:

47 cfr Sec. 73.1620(b) which reads in part:
The Commission reserves the right to revoke, suspend, or modify program tests by any station without right of hearing for failure to comply adequately with all terms of the construction permit or the provisions of Sec. 73.1690(c) for a modification of license application, or in order to resolve instances of interference. The Commission may, at its discretion, also require the filing of a construction permit application to bring the station into compliance the Commission's rules and policies.

Remember, the FCC stated that all ham frequencies are "shared services".
Thus, this means that more than part 97 might apply.

gee, you agree with me in 2 posts and then fillet me open in 5 others. my how your true colors have shown.

Here's the problem. you are missing the bigger picture. and, since we are on the subject, you are in denial about it.

since you, and others, seem to think that your way is the right way. it is incumbent upon you to show by preponderance of evidence that your position is both legally and morally correct.

you have yet to do so.

you have yet to cite even a single rule that agrees with your point, let alone shown any supporting evidence to backup your claims.

yet, I have already shown 2 places where the fcc has, in fact, written where my position is not only supported, but that the fcc can, if they so decide, take whatever action they deem required. and this was just 2 examples. I am sure, with a little legwork, that more can be found.

in fact, I am fairly certain that a well placed letter to Mr. Hollingsworth asking about this matter would yield some very interesting results.

now, you really don't want to carry this meaningless "argument" of yours that far, do you?

why should I? I already have (regardless of your attempts to brush off the examples).

also, I find it rather odd that you choose to use a ham's callsign that lives right here in phoenix, yet your reply to is to yet another ham.

so, which are you? Steven J. Robeson of 151 12TH AVE NW WINCHESTER TN 37398 or, the other guy?

Either way, you are a forger and in violation of your ISP's AUP.

So? whats it going to be? cease this useless argument or.......?

oh yeah, a couple of final points:
1. you are using a windows program (forte agent)
2. you are posting through 4ax.com (A known news proxy used by forgers and those who like to commit harassment). Its not that hard to get useful information from 4ax. they do keep logs.

oh yeah, there is a new law of the land too: use a nym, harass via the net and get jail time. perhaps you should read about it. its been all the rave across several newsgroups, slashdot and even some of the major publications over the last few weeks.

Have fun

They were referring to the fact the amateur radio spectrum is shared frequency and that no frequency is owned by one station

>47 cfr Sec. 73.1620(b) which reads in part:

47 CFR 73 is the broadcast rules, those rules only apply to the Broadcast service. But your right there are rules outside of part 97 that amateurs and the FCC must comply with including Part 0, Part 1 and Part 2 of the Communication Act of 1934 as amended.

It's not my "will", Markie.

"Larry", despite his self-proclaimed expertise, knowledge, and experience doesn't seem to understand what the term "crossband" means as it pertains to Amateur Radio application.

He came in purporting to "know a better way", yet obviously didn't know what he was talking about. He offered to leave and I suggested he duck that swinging door.

That "law" - which was snuck into an appropriations bill by the low life Senator Arlen Specter from PA - will not be enforced. In fact, Bush is being urged to do the same thing Clinton did when confronted with a similar law and to issue a non-enforcement executive order for what is obviously an unconstitutional provision. The courts would toss it out in a heartbeat, so it would be a waste of taxpayer dollars to even attempt enforcement.

High pitch voice don't mean shit, in real anime (anime that has no be converted into english) ALL their voices are high pitch. That is one of the requirement to be voice actor/actress in japan you have to be able to have a high pitch voice. As for child-like mannerisms there's a lot of characters in japanese animation that have that qualities young and old. I have over 1000 anime movies (in japanese) and there is a big difference between US anime and Japanese anime, over here the distribution groups like 4 kids and funanimation remove a lot of the content, and the translations are often off from what is really being said. don't talk to me about anime, I know a hell a lot about anime, I've been watching it since the early to mid 70's.

From what I see, anyone that operates a radio transmitter between those frequencies and not properly licensed is a law breaker. That does not equate illegal operation to legal operation. Just because the DoD seems to have abandoned the 27.5 to 28.0 MHz spectrum does not mean it is orphaned and any one can use.

Trust me if the DoD wants to used that frequency again, then be prepared to suffer the consequences.

Freebanders are squatters. They disdain the authority and the ability of the FCC and the Federal Government to allocate frequency spectrum.
Instaed they self employ the "Use it or Lose it" mentality. If no one is going to use it then we will. That is not like amatuer radio. Yes there are those within the frequency spectrum allocated to amatuer radio that do illegal operation. But to draw an analogy of Freeband usage and legal amature radio usage is a very large leap.

just my opinion

Hi Steve

Unfortunately it wont go away real fast! Since there is world wide use of 27-30MHz in many places where enforcement is too expensive or non existent, any officially sanctioned use of the band may as well be dropped. I dont like that personally but it is the reality of the situation. Fixing it in the US for example wont help interference issues that peak every 11 years!

And hey I have had to wade through Indonesians using 2m FM handy talkies on/near the input to OSCAR freqs. Its almost exciting at first until you find out they are comparing the size of their fish catch...

Perhaps troll is the wrong word Peter; however I still feel that Gareth's prose should not put off anyone interested in AR especially someone with such an apparent pedigree.

It is no wonder wherever he goes he is loathed, I wonder if his wife knows that he condones the murders of children, and police officers etc. The "Orator For Decency" would not know the meaning of decency, he appears to be a bitter, evil, and twisted little 'man' , if it were not for visits from the police I doubt if he would have any visitors. His inferiority complex must give him sleepless nights.

amazing set of contradition

first he paid a lot of money for a retainer the next this his lawyer was working for free in his spare time that he was ready to then would sue within 10 days now e is waiting to sue me (waitng for the Rapture?)

he offereed not to sue if I stoped using hsi daughter name and then says he suing me no matter i dont

Sounds like a nice thing to do but I doubt effective. Its a distance from source problem. You cant effectively interfere with two stations a mile apart from (say) 20 miles away.

What would be nice if they allocated it to BPL instead! <grin> confessd to the forgery aspect and at least been telling the truth but he just decided to lie accross the board

may be he realized and did himself in

And might I gently enquire as to why this has been cross-posted to 3 different groups?

As to knowlege, I note discussion concerning stainless steel whips versus silver plated whips. Hmmmm .... is anyone aware of the radiation resistance of a vertical? How about a dipole? Does anyone think (considering that even a stainless steel whip is not a small wire) that .1 ohm (or even 1 whole ohm) is going to make any discernable difference in a signal when the radiation resistance is 36 ohms for a vertical or 72 ohms for a dipole? Not to mention that most of the radiation occurs near the feedpoint; very little near the ends. Of course, a poor ground connection can result in a lot more loss, but that is not what I am addressing.

Of course, it can be pointed out that antenna tuners use large copper coils, often silver plated. Ever consider that in a circuit that has large circulating currents that .1 ohm may be huge? In some loop antennas at even the 100 watt level, currents in a capacitor or feed loop can be many tens (or even hundreds) of amps. In that case, you want very low resistance or you may loose most of your signal.

Whilst you try to make a point, a friend of mine in British Columbia is constructing a phased 80 meter array. I suspect that might be a bit out of your league, but I could be wrong. I had one fellow trying to claim there was no such thing when I mentioned end-fire or broadside arrays. He thought I was blowing smoke. Sigh ...

Whilst you try to paint amateurs as elitist, I've never had a problem with new folks using cb lingo and certainly wouldn't put them down for it. I suspect, however, that the biggest problem is that folks who claim they don't want the amateur license do so for one of two reasons. Either they don't want to have to take the tests, or they don't like regulations. Mostly the latter.

As has been pointed out, the regulations are there for a similar reason that there exist regulations for driving on highways. Back in the early 20th century, there was little or no need to regulate either radio or driving as there were few radio stations and very few horseless carriages. Things change. Get used to it.

With all due regards from Rochester, NY

Because it's a troll.

Ideally.

Not entirely accurate. The EM wave is a product of both the high current -and- the high voltage segments of the antenna. That's why a center-loaded 1/4-wave vertical works better than a bottom-loader, all else being equal.

Hudreds of amps at 100 watts? Not a very common occurance in 11m equipment.

How about because the interests of the radio hobbyist (which may be a more appropriate term than 'amateur') may not be covered by the scope of the ARS? or maybe because the thought of being stereotyped as a nacho-addicted disaster-junkie isn't too appealing? I've heard several other reasons over the years; however, none of them were valid enough to justify freebanding, IMO.

Regulations are fine. Dictatorial mandates from the FCC aren't.
Freebanding won't solve the problem but neither will nagging.

Hammies and dog-pound refugees would do well to read my scintillating prose and learned insights on the fine art of freebanding. A pet peeve of mine is that hammies (certain ones) put down radio hobbyists like myself just because they are CBers and just because they use gear that's advanced. I have logged more DX on the freeband than most 2 meter hams have in a lifetime. Why shouldn't I be treated with respect? All I am asking is that the issue of legality be put aside and my acheivements be recognized for what they are.

http://sporadicwaves.tripod.com/page7.html

If you take the time to read this you will see that we on freeband have problems with troublemakers too. They don't abide by our rules.
They don't care what others think. They jam and make noises on 27.555.
Read about it in my article. They are wrecking my freeband and they should be stopped.

http://sporadicwaves.tripod.com/page7.html

I admit I get all upset when hammies tell me I am breaking rules. I don't care about rules. I don't care what others think. If I want to operate freeband it is my responsibility and I don't like to hear anyone putting me down for it. Read about how we have created our own little illegal alternative to ham radio on the freeband. You hammies can be jealous.

http://sporadicwaves.tripod.com/page7.html

Hammies try to say that there are goverment users on 27.555 and above. I have never heard any myself so that proves there are none.
Because of course what I say is true and everyone else is a liar.
Read my wonderful prose and see for yourself.

http://sporadicwaves.tripod.com/page7.html

Geniuses like me don't need to obey laws since we are above the masses. Take that, you pussy-footed hams.

They did not clarify that point specifically. :(

However, it is a known fact that some of our spectrum is, in fact, shared with commercial services (as either primary or secondary users).

True enough.... still, given the nature of the current political climate, and other exigencies, they might be using it anyway.

I haven't drafted a letter to Mr. Hollingsworth as yet on this. still need to think about it. Still, it might be an interesting loophole the fcc can use (or not). thats pretty much up to a judge to decide anyway.

as for me, this thread is done.

I can criticize the government all day and not bash them.

Unfortunately weak minded souls such as yourself were just never raised with the skills and education that allow you to interact in manner that befits being an adult.

You just use excuses like that to be profane and childish because it's too much work to grow up.

3874. Why We Freeband

Like many Alpha Tango members I have DXed over 100 confirmed countries on 12 whiskey SSB, worldwide without the need for license or expense of ham radio.

I have everything a man could ask for without the additional volunteer headache Uncle Charlie could induce by means of harassment.
Besides,,I like the freeband way better than the HF hammie bands and repeaters.

And I do it barefoot 99% of the time..only time I use power, is when it's something really rare and I have exhausted myself with my 3 watts..then, and only then, I may elect to toss out a hundred watts,,,maximum. That "crime" is less than the fine and imprisonment that you can get for taping a movie from HBO.

No cber has been prosecuted (during this or the last administration) for merely operating an amp or talking DX or freebanding without receiveing a warning. So, to set the record straight, a warning letter outlining the infractions is to be issued to the offending station as a warning.
Fail to heed the warning and you may find yourself facing a fine.
Underline the word "may". This reduces the relative risk and associated penalty to a petty infraction comparable to jaywalking.

I have spoken to Mr. Hollingsworth personally, and I can assure you, even if he thinks that slightly exceeding power limits is ok, he can't verbalize it due his present position.

There are many hammies on the freeband...and guess what? They are cool as all get out!!! Us cbersare a friendlier lot. We really don'tgive a rat's azz if a hammie talks on cb,,,we'lll talk to him anyways...probably why they come on down in the first place,,,so they can escape the frequency fuzz and just......enjoy radio.

Organized, long term freebanders are very aware where they operate and take great measure to ensure against talking on an amateur f requency or one that isn't heavily used on the freeband.
If the non-U.S. stations can operate ssb there, why shouldn't I, especially if I want to have a nice DX contact with one of them?

Many of us LIKE the law as it is, it keeps "yes men" off the freqs. Same analogy as the gun issue...when guns are outlawed only outlaws will have guns...no, yoo won't find many freebanders lobbying fo r change to open the freqs because the law as it reads, doesn't bug us.

No rationalization is even needed except to reply to folks that repeatedly ask over and over, "Why?" It is these folks that feel they need a reason why we do what we do, not us.

So yes. You lie on a regular basis, Nursie.

"There are some very disturbing things being said by amateurs about
meter bands aren't any different from licensed hams."

Yes you are different, you break the law.

" We use Yaseus, Kenwoods and Icom radios just like you do,"

And use them illegally.

"so we know technical issues as well or better."

That is highly debatable.

"We are treated like 2nd class citizens,"

I agree, you should not be treated as 2nd class citizens, you should be treated as the lawbreakers you are.

" We have the same rights under the constitution as legal hams do."

Please show where the Consitution gives you the right to break the law.
Hams have a right to use the airwaves by virtue of the fact they have obtained a license that gives them the right, you have not.

If you don't want to be treated as a criminal, then don't be a criminal.

"Why shouldn't I be treated with respect?"

Do something respectful and you might be. Breaking the law isn't respectful.

"All I am asking is that the issue of legality be put aside and my acheivements be recognized for what they are. "

I suppose the legality of robbing banks should be put aside and the thief should be respected for acheiving wealth.

"Hammies try to say that there are goverment users on 27.555 and above. I have never heard any myself so that proves there are none. "

Doesn't matter if you have never heard any users on those frequencies, those frequencies are allocated. Just because you see an automobile that appears to you that no one is using it, doesn't give you the right to take it, but then you are a lawbreaker so you thinking isn't very logical.

becuase you are a fool \

it is well estatalished that one has the right the right to choose to comit a crime

only a cartoon denies that fact interesting question something like have I stopped beating my wife yet?

I don't break the law in the exercise of my sexuality Mr Steve Slit what I enjoy wether you like it or not is not against the law guess you have been follwing the news

but back tothe topic

the Freebanders have ervery right to break the law if they choose, and the FCC should be trying harder to make them pay for doing so. it is how the game works

wrong again

but len and BB get better than 90 percent of wht I what and yet you and the cartoon and Steve "can't" most of it of course is that you don't want to the other amusing thing is the way steve always claim that worst

If you want to use the semantical argument, you have the right to -choose- even though you may not have the right to actually -commit-the crime. Or, from a social viewpoint, you may have the -natural-right to do anything within the limits of your abilities, but that doesn't mean you have the same -legal- right.

It's the capacity for rational thought that gives us the ability to distinguish between what is 'right' and what is 'wrong'. It also draws a line of seperation between men and monkeys.....

it also gives us the points of law concerning where we had to break the law to serve some higher good which is the legal basis for "justifacation" defenses

but oer all freebanding is low on the pole of sins against mankind

An -act- may or may not be a -crime-. For example, homocide is an act that might be committed in self-defense. That's not a crime since the act is justified. Even HDT acknowledged that there are no justifiable crimes.

>but oer all freebanding is low on the pole of sins against mankind

True. Nor does it rank among the top ten as crimes that "serve some higher good".

ture I neither support or realy opose it. it is and exists the question being what if anyting do we as a gruop do about it do we divert enforcement resources there? (good pratical reasons not to exist)do we allocate the araeas of RF they use to ARS and or CN band and let them fight it out with legaloperators

as you showed with your threat

you claim you will go to the TAylorville PD if Todd does something. If you were serious about protecting kids and belived in what you claimed you were planing to report if Todd did something, youd have reported him already.

since you don't report him despie knowing he is gulity you are

In preparation for your new adventures on the freeband, there are a few things that you must be willing to change as far as your previous operating habits. The main thing to realize is that almost all operating techniques that you have learned or developed while operating your CB radio on the standard AM channels 1 - 40, no longer apply while operating single sideband mode on the Freeband. Operating on the freeband is a totally different world that requires totally new and different procedures for development of acceptable operating techniques.

Gone are the CB handles, gone are the 10-codes, gone are the toys, noisemaker gizmos and ECHO microphones that have proliferated over the years on the AM CB band. Gone is the use of CB lingo and jargons. Gone is the use of channel numbers ....You will now be referring to frequencies instead. As you will soon see, there are many things different about 11 meter Freeband DXing that you will need to know.

It is the intent of Freeband Land 11 Meter DX Academy to provide you, the new 11 meter Freeband DXer, with an accurate, concise and useful source of 11 Meter DXing information that focuses on acceptable operating techniques rather than serving as an exclusive resource for other activities related to 11 meter DXing.

Freeband Land 11 Meter DX Academy will try to guide you toward a better understanding of the world of Freeband DXing by informing you, up front, of what to expect. It is perhaps different than what you have been used to.... but don't be intimidated by it ! Just spend a little time to learn about it ! In addition to the written information here at the Academy, you can implement another very important process of learning. It's called listening .

When you hear what sounds like a serious DX QSO (On air conversation) in progress, listen to the operators. Take note of their techniques and mannerisms. Listen for unfamiliar words, phrases and uses of numbers that seem to be showing up quit often during on the air QSOs. To the experienced DXer, the use of these keywords and numbers simply reflect now instinctive and acceptable operating procedures that all contribute to creating the preferred radio environment. They would have it no other way!

Listen for DXpeditions or Special Event Stations while they are active. On a good day, you will hear the proper use of preferred and specific techniques by operators attempting to work the event. On a more typical day, you may be earwitness to classic examples of how NOT to work these special activations! We will be discussing the topic of working DXpeditions and Special Event Stations in an upcoming " lesson".

As long as criminals continue to control the White House and Capitol Hill, and as long as freebanders aren't jamming legal comm, I don't really care. I just hate lame excuses.

He's dead. It's over. Move on.

>indeed the later points is oneof the reason I hang around RRAP to try Dudly is an easy case. He's socially isolated and has low self-esteem.

He gives value to his accomplishments by how he thinks they are valued by others, and so measures his self-worth from his limited view of society. But because of this narrow perception, he sees himself as an underachiever. Subsequently, he overcompensates with passive-agressive behavior and self-aggrandizing lies, always being very careful not to expose any flaw that could possibly scratch the false image he is trying to present to others.

IOW, he's the type of person who is obsessive about keeping his house immaculately clean, but only where others can see; the attic is full of junk, the cellar is infested with rats, the dishwasher is loaded with maggots, and the whole house reeks from too many air fresheners.

Does that clear things up?

Hello, Frank

You make a very good point. I bit hard on what was probably planted by the American Kennel Club LOL.

As to the radiation resistance, you are correct - the type of ground and distance over that ground will affect the radiation resistance considerably. My point was that an extra ohm in the resistance of the antenna will likely not be noticeable unless you are talking about loop (or, of course, a tank circuit). Circulating currents in resonant circuits can (possibly) be extreme.

As to the put-down, I think I owe an apology to a lot of folks. I bit pretty hard on the hook .... :))

Again, your point is well taken.

Oh! You meant "m-o-n-e-y." Did you spend a lot of it?

Mind posting his business info. I'd sure like to retain an attorney that doesn't accept retainer money "until he's ready to go."

Nope. That's pretty much what you said, inferred, insinuated, and implied.

I think this attorney's cash register is going to ring up "reject case, refund lots of money."

Oooops. Might have been one of the many, many, many Steve imposters.
Like the one that apologized for you and you claimed to abide by. Hi!

Hi!

Did you pre-brief him about your comments about his wife on RRAP? You really don't want him to be blind sided with that info in front of the judge. Might throw his game off and you and him both get laughed out of court. It might be better if he just dropped you now.

Then what would you call what you said about his wife? Was there any reason at all to bring up his new wife?

Personally, if his wife isn't posting to RRAP, I don't think there's a reason for you to make comments about her. But that's just me.

You're welcome to repost it and give us a blow-by blow explanation of what you really meant by what you said. Like having a mini-expose' on the mind of Steve.

You forge the attributes in post then say you don't. You lie but you think it's for the right reason. Typical liberal situational morality.

Correct. It's a matter of your lying.

You're welcome to explain away why you thought it was necessary to comment on your new attorney's new wife on the very newsgroup that he's likely to investigate. You sure say some stupid stuff. Pogo once said, "I have met Steve's enemy, and it is he." ;^) infairness to steve I mentioned her by call leter steve posted her name and adress and that pissed her off she called the FCC about steve by name using the database in order to harass other hams like here (and by externition myself) the intail clerk agreed that it should eb looked into with a mind to prehaps warn that the fact the data is public doesn't give him the right to abuse it the clerk checked steve call and mentioned that therier sure were a lot of complaints from and about the man I mentioned the incednt here steve calls complaining about his activities "deciet"

When are you going to learn to treat other people like you would want to be treated?

It really IS that simple.

"not on Freeband CB "

There is no such thing as "freeband cb" you idiot. Freebanders aren't cbers and cbers aren't freebanders. There is no such thing as the freeband, all those frequencies are allocated to other services.

What's wrong with a little crack cocaine? Even better is to sniff a used jock strap. Take it off the wall, get a big old sniff, and go a' freebanding, yelling and making noises like a monkey with fake call letters. I can talk to saucer men on freeband any time I want. I even had a personal phone call from Riley H. and he told me, I swear ta God, that he did not give a crap about illegal freebanders and that I could run as much power as I want on any frequency I want. Of course he can't publicly admit this you see, but I know it to be true, true, true. Because Twistedhed knows all and can do things the average citizen cannot, because he is special and not of the common folk who must obey laws and conform to society. Bah, I pee on society's rules. I am a freeband outlaw prince and the swamplands of Tampa Bay are my kingdom. Come on by, the fishin' is fine. Third stump from the end of the dirt road. Just honk your horn, I'll come a runnin'.

I'm an "underachiver" only in that there's ALWAYS something better to strive for.

It's called "goals".

You should set some for yourself someday, Frankie.

How ironic, Brain.

I've given YOU that same opportunity and you always rub it in my face.

Funny how you can make aspurgences out of one side of your mouth and then lament them with the other.......

Unless you filed one yourself, Markie, there are no "complaints" filed about me at the FCC...Or ANY federal agency.

Why do you insist on creating such obviously laughable tales, Markie...?!?!

The one your "wife" needs to complain about is YOU, Markie.

YOU are the one who's left "her" exposed to ridicule and humiliation.

No one else.

Mark was obviously proud of her getting her license. There was no need for "Steve" to ridicule or humiliate her. We can always count on "Steve" to be a jerk or to use the FCC database to harass licensed amateurs.

Yes and no, it is a privilege which is given to the license holder by the government, however the Supreme Court has ruled in the past that once a person obtains a license the FCC is not allowed to infringe on the stations first amendment right.

The problem when it comes to the Baxter case is one of the things he was fined for was his content. The FCC in its NAL stated that Baxter was "broadcasting" and according to the rules a Broadcast is a "transmission intended for the reception by the general public, either direct or relayed". An information bulletin, which Baxter claims he's running is "A message directed ONLY to amateur radio operators consisting solely of subject matter directed interest to the amateur radio service." So the question is was his transmissions directed to amateurs or to the general pubic? The second is was his content of "direct interest to the amateur radio service"; the problem here is there is no real definition of what the "direct interest to the amateur radio". Amateur have this belief that an information bulletin is an "amateur newscast" but in reality there is no rule that specifies that's what an information bulletin is.
All an information bulletin has to be is of "direct interest to the amateur radio community". There is also nothing really in the rules that state that the content has to be about radio only that has to be of "direct interest to amateur radio community". So an amateur could do bulletins discussion advancements in electronics or a talk show discussing propagation and antenna design. Amateurs are going also have to realize that even if a small group of amateur's is interested in this bulletins it would fall with in the scope.

I've not ridiculed "her" or "harassed" "her" other than to doubt anyone Morkie is sleeping with is other than another man.

"She" may be a very fine person, however we NOW have Morkie making up these tales that sound just like his OTHER tales.

And we have Brainie backing him up.

And you are welcome to explain why it's been necessary to misquote

You're right. He pays attention to what's transpired here.

He also sees what I have told him about misquoting, redirection of comments, etc.

Such as those comments of yours that would seemingly suggest impropriety where none exists vis-a-vis your comments.

But nice try. And thanks for bolstering my arguments.

No it's not.

"Larry" engaged himself on his own volition. I didn't bring him in here.

He disengaged himself of the same volition. No one held a gun to his head. Perhaps due to the fact that despite his alleged expertise in electronics he didn't seem to know what "crossband" means as it pertains to Amateur Radio applicatons and was unable to sustain his "argument" in the face of that ignorance. Or perhaps because he didn't find an immediate "Gee Why Didn't I Think Of That" convert to his "just get on the computer" mantra.

> > "Larry", despite his self-proclaimed expertise, knowledge, and

It's not my terms. It's the industry's.

And if he's the technician he claims to be, standardization of terms in electrionics is basic. As it pertains to Amatuer Radio use, "crossband" means you transmit on one frequency in one band while receiving on another frequency in yet another band.

There's no "varriation" to it.

That's how the "crossband repeater" on the ISS works. It receives on 70cm and retransmits on 2 meters. I addressed NO OTHER aspect of communications to/with the ISS.

You're welcome to reference any Amateur Radio text you care to.
It's the same in all of them.

> > He came in purporting to "know a better way", yet obviously didn't > >know what he was talking about.
> no you a lying again

Nope.

It's all right there.

Larry does NOT know what "crossband" means...Either that or he convieniently ignored it in favor of promoting his own agenda, which was the use of VoIP/Echolink.

Those are fun, I am sure, but I am more interested in the actual ground-station techniques.

VoIP/Echolink is fine if that's all you care to do. I was hoping to stir some interest in some ISS repeater contacts. What emerged was the ####ing contest that "Larry" brought on and sustained by you.

I should have known better.

Nope. More of YOUR "micron thin" skin, FatBoy.

Hmmmmmmmmm...?!?!

Or perhaps from:

MARK C MORGAN 41-- Available CHASSELL MI Background Report

Maybe wll find some interesting suff here:

TODD E DAUGHERTY 37 -- TAYLORVILLE IL Background Report

We might even get some laughs from:

BRIAN P BURKE 47 -- PICKERINGTON OH Background Report

Interesting facts even without paying the fee here. Brain! Does someone we know sing "Brahm's Lullabye" to you...?!?!

We can swing up to the PNW and check in on our resident jail bird:

FRANK D GILLILAND 45 -- SPOKANE WA Background Report

There was another Frank Gilliland in WA, but judging by the age and when he claimed to have "served" in the Marines, I am sure this is the right one. But what the heck, I can pull them both for the same price.

So if you're ready to start pitching rocks from inside that glass

Depends on the interest in AR Ace!

A project I want to look into is using very low data rate (less than 10Hz b/w) on the 13.5Mhz non license band to transmit GPS data from my car - so the family knows where I am! I suspect that given the b/w in use the range using low power will be exceptional.

Realising that one can just pick up the phone, but thats one of the first things to break in an emergency!

Its actually a more difficult project than would first seem. One needs very high stability and low phase noise oscillators.

I'll admit though that QRO is great for those cold nights out in the shack!

He passed judgement the same way he passes gas.

Not unusual in this Din of Inequity. It is a blog, not a newsgroup.

Like everyone else, Eric didn't get his own copy of the referenced CCITT document. I did...and passed the pertinent FCC definition part to you.

The discussion of the latest amateur radio R&O from the FCC isn't the subject in here. The real subject is Major Dud railing against all who do not agree with him...or the Extra PCTAs all hollering about "good ol days" when everyone knew their place and listened to these self-appointed gods of radio and amateurism lecture to all the heathen.

Interesting part is that the FCC still has NOT made a definitive statement about the equivalent word rate in morse code...in comparison to all the other modes allocated to U.S. radio amateurs. Instead, all the "gods" come up with the word "PARIS" and the "rate" that "everyone knows."

Hey, if "everyone knows what it is" then there wouldn't have to be ANY regulations in U.S. amateur radio, would there? :-)

Having said that, now watch the OTs come up with some "replies" like:
1. Do you mean that Part 97 should be eliminated?
2. Do you mean that everyone should "freeband?"
3. What do you mean by that?
4. Why do you care (you haven't got a ham license)?
The OTs have to AVOID talking about the subject and slam the ones that don't "respect" them. It is their instant gratification (in their own minds).

Well, at least the FCC did SOMETHING about keeping Part 97 at least as up-to-date as a decade ago...

I am better than you

I don't lie without a reason like you just did

I chose to use vulgarity I don't have to OTOH the vulgarity does serve to bring your hypocrasy into sharper focus

Why does Steve turn every comment into homosexual inuendo?

a. He's sick.

Why does rec.radio.amateur.policy need this kind of information?

a. It doesn't.

> most women women my wifeincluded call being called amn ridcule

Steve is just trying to get someone to call him a man. He keeps wishing and wishing. It's not going to happen.

> > "She" may be a very fine person, however we NOW have Morkie making Getting a Technician license is a "tall tale?"

a. It is a worthwhile achievement for anyone, not a tall tale.

Steve is not a decent human being, hasn't had a decent thought in years.

From: N2EY@AOL.COM
Message-ID: <1138930023.765605.123040@o13g2000cwo.googlegroups.com>

These are the numbers of current, unexpired amateur radio licenses held by individuals on the stated dates, and the percentage of the total number of active licenses that class contains:

As of May 14, 2000:

Novice - 49,329 (7.3%)
Technician - 205,394 (30.4%)
Technician Plus - 128,860 (19.1%)
General - 112,677 (16.7%)
Advanced - 99,782 (14.8%)
Extra - 78,750 (11.7%)

Total Tech/TechPlus - 334,254 (49.5%)

Total General/Advanced/Extra - 291,209 (43.2%)

Total all classes - 674,792

As of January 31, 2006:

Novice - 26,427 (4.0%) [decrease of 22,902]
Technician - 275,842 (41.7%) [increase of 70,448]
Technician Plus - 42,761 (6.5%) [decrease of 86,099]
General - 134,622 (20.4%) [increase of 21,945]
Advanced - 73,819 (11.1%) [decrease of 25,963]
Extra - 107,474 (16.3%) [increase of 28,724]

Total Tech/TechPlus - 318,603 (48.2%) [decrease of 15,651]

Total General/Advanced/Extra - 315,915 (47.8%) [increase of 24,706]

Total all classes - 660,945 (decrease of 13,847)

Note that these totals do not include licenses that have expired but are in the grace period.

They also do not include club, military, RACES or other station-only licenses.

Note also that effective April 15, 2000, new Novice, Technician Plus and Advanced licenses are no longer issued.

Since April 15, 2000, FCC has renewed all existing Technician Plus licenses as Technician. It is therefore informative to consider the totals of the two classes, since the Technician class includes a significant number of Technician Plus licenses renewed as Technician.

You don't see things at all.

"BTW monkeys are not esp esp fond of Bannas "

Maybe not as I don't know what "bannas" are, but they sure like bananas.

For good reason:

1. They advocate free-banding on the HF aeronautical frequencies (which aircraft utilize for transoceanic communications);
2. They're federal lawbreakers.

No 73 for them,

Let clear something up, first off I never posted anything on here or email steve anything about "dig up information on steve roberson" The post/ email were fake. I went to check my email one day and I got that nasty letter from steve. I could really fuck about that asshole but I

ALL THE NEWS THAT IS FIT TO PRINT- 'Ron Haraseth' APCO FAILS

Subject: Those of us in Public Safety caught in Wave # 1 in Rebanding Importance: High

Ron,

I tried to call you this morning & had a conversation with Michelle Fink. She is a very good person as she listened to what I had to say.
I appreciated that.

Ron, IMHO, I do not feel, as an APCO member, that APCO has really represented us in a way to bring group power to each individual Sprint-Nextel / TA negotiations for Public Safety in the Wave #1
Rebanding - from my point of view!

I have talked with East Coast Engineering Consultants who are enduring
- as we have - prolonged negotiations with Sprint-Nextel & the TA. I have heard of Sprint-Nextel challenges to an Engineering Consultants projections, that a task will take 350 hours, & Sprint-Nextel coming back with a statement, that it should only take 20 hours!

Months ago I pointed out to the TA their time event timeline chart did not include the "Mandatory Negotiation 30 day window for Wave #1 ending

2/8/2006!"

Months ago (this is in a recorded TA Webinar) I asked the TA, " What do we do if delay becomes a negotiating tool?". There was silence for a time, & the TA replied, "Get on the Web, or Fax us & we will become involved".

At this time - even though our single point of contact has done everything to attain a Pre-Planning Funding signed contract - we are in "Mandatory Mediated Negotiations" with a 2/8/2006 deadline. I have been told we are very close to Sprint-Nextel negotiations of a contract? If we do not arrive at a signed document, you know how serious a situation

my State will face.

Ron, Washington State didn't have the upfront funding to immediately hire our Consulting Engineer (IBI Group, Portland, OR.), or Robert Gurss our Communications Lawyer specialist. So, we had to disclosed all details up front to arrive at hoped for funding to even begin to analyze the now suggested frequency's to vacate in the General 800 MHz band, that the Mandatory Mediation TA is saying "Can Oregon use these to go on & are you off them as yet?" I suggested to our single point of contact to in writing , to express our "Good Faith" efforts & that Washington State was willing to abandon TA questioned frequency's if Sprint-Nextel would give us mid-band frequency's in exchange. I do not know what frequency's have been, or are being suggested we go to from Sprint-Nextel. I do not know how Mutual Aid Washington frequency's are being addressed. I don't even know the proposed terms of a contract with Sprint-Nextel & the Mandatory Mediation TA as yet!

I feel Sprint -Nextel is nationally going beyond good faith in such a way that could well make it impossible to "Make all Parties Whole". I feel it is important, that Sprint-Nextel is included in being "Made Whole". Sprint-Nextel must understand a partnership with Public Safety that MUST succeed!

Why do you say this you might ask? Well, if our National Public Safety is required to certify that Rebanding is done at minimal cost, & then to have a party consider this as a point to negate, or negotiate down, it can very well be perceived as seeing our National Public Safety as being "Liars"!

I have heard, that no one in Wave #1 Oregon has a "Pre-Planning" funding contract signed as yet! This is VERY SERIOUS as the window ends

2-8-2006 !!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

In addition to all this the "Other hand" of the FCC has activated the Automated Construction notice deadline of 1/1/2006! Where is APCO when we are engaged in the Rebanding struggle? We don't need to have this during Rebanding! It is another resource demand on Public Safety, where we are already over loaded with Rebanding! APCO should work to buy us more time!

Please take my remarks anywhere it does good for the order of APCO & those of us in Public Safety.

Thanks for allowing a release of my personal in the trenches point of view on actual circumstances here.

Very Sincerely,

(Name removed by senders request)

Hi Trevor

Well, I was surprised by the animosity. If I were to regularly meet that within on air conversations I would be quite bothered I think. I remembered the hobby as being very gentlemanly and was therefore qute suprised. I think I may just lurk about an some of the HF / VHF bands and see what actually happens before deciding to get my iron out again.

I'm seeing my old mate G4GCO tonight for a few beers, no doubt we will discuss this as well.

Thanks for the comments

Thanks to everyone who commented

It seems that maybe this is not the general view of class B after all.
I'm going to lurk about on HF/VHF for a while listening and see how it goes down, maybe I'll get my iron out then and do some stuff.

Thanks for the advice all

>From what you write below, you would seem to qualify as a _REAL_ Radio Ham, the essence of Radio Hammery, and pursuing activities that the FAQ praises.

To get as far as the bit you quote below, you must have read the opening paragraphs which speak in support of the style of Radio Hammery which you say is you, and so it is difficult to understand why you should seem to take offence at remarks which clearly are not directed at you. As you say below, you have been "out of it" for a number of years, so it is unlikely that you were aware of the gangrenous degeneration that is the M3/CB Fools' Licence scheme or that you availed yourself of the facility.

The groups which are criticised by the FAQ are those who have featured in this NG in the years gone by, and any animosity has, indeed, been originated by the criticised groups.
For me, Radio Hammery has always had traditions of international gentlemanliness and these criticised groups do not have those traditions.

So, you would appear to come from the traditional seed-corn of Radio Hammery, where it is a technical pursuit with jealously guarded privileges and yet you seem to take offence at criticsm of those who are not in your league.

I offer no apologies for maintaining a stance to uphold the technical and gentlemanly traditions of Ham Radio; nor do I apologise for setting ourselves apart from CBers.

No-one who is a _REAL_ Radio Ham will be put off in the slightest by a stance of maintaining the technical and gentlemanly traditions.

CBers and their ilk might be put off, and if they are so put off, then I say, "Good!".

There is no animosity expressed by urging those of a technical bent to join us; neither is there any animosity in standing apart from those who are not our fellows by any stretch of the imagination.

Where there has been animosity, it has been on the part of those who make up the groups criticised.

It would seem to be certain that you have taken a critique of those Class Bers who took out a licence under the gangrenous degeneration that is the M3/CB Fools' Licence scheme to be a critique of all Class Bers, which it was not.

I suggest that you re-rea the FAQ, when you will actually find yourself to be praised and not criticised.

The personal and insulting remarks below are very much those that are typical of CBers - Childish Broadcasters - the very people whom the FAQ criticises. Such remarks do not fit in the gentlemanly traditions of _REAL_ Ham Radio.

I am not familiar with the Yankland licensing schemes.

Is "W5EGO" perhaps some for of CB licence - the abusive personal style quoted below would seem to suggest so.

There is no attempt to demean anybody by a taxonomy of those who are _REAL_ Radio Hams and those who are CBers of one sort or another.

There is no troll in expressing a serious concern about what is happening in Radio Hammery and in seeking that the technical and gentlemanly traditions be maintained.

If you think it is a troll, then perhaps you are one of the CBers-Masquerading-As-A-Radio-Ham that the FAQ warns against?

You are the very model of a newsgroup personality.
You intersperse stupidity with tedious banality.
Psudonyms you've plenty of; both genuine and ghosted, too,
On all the countless newsgroups that your drivel is cross-posted to.
Our bandwidth you will fritter with your whining and your snivelling,
And we're the ones who pay the bills, downloading all your drivelling.
Your enemies are numerous, and no-one would be blaming us
For cracking your head open after you've been rudely flaming us.
You hate to lose an argument (by now you should be used to it).
You wouldn't know a valid point if you were introduced to it.
Your learning is extensive but consists of mindless trivia,
Designed to fan your ego, which is larger than Bolivia.
The comments that you vomit forth, disguised as jest and drollery,
Are really just an exercise in unremitting trollery.
You say you're frank and forthright, but that's merely lies and vanity,

The gibberings of one who's on the limits of his sanity.

With apologies to Gilbert and Sullivan :-)

Let clear something up, first off I never posted anything on here or email steve anything about "dig up information on steve roberson" The post/ email were fake. I went to check my email one day and I got that nasty letter from steve. I could really fuck about that asshole but I will suggest this to him, He better make sure those EMAIL and or posts are from me or I WILL go after his ass for harassment. I done playing this fucking game.

Second off, I did pissed at Schwartz and complain to Googles and DOJ about his blog and it was took down. Same thing for those fucking Nazis at NIM. Same thing for other bitchwhore boards who use my copyrighted property.

No more fucking games anymore. I fucking seriously going after all you thief bastards including roberson.

It's even more impressive if you sing it to the tune of "Modern Major General" -- the penultimate line has to be forced to scan, but the rest flows nicely.

I have indeed been hoest enough to admit there occasions I have lied and will lie

howver wether or not I have lied has nothing to do with fact you are lying

one of your lies is your claims I have AIDS

There now appears to be a chorus of rather silly and childish individuals who are taking delight in the abusive remarks put about by each other.

Such Childish Behaviour (CB) does nothing for the public's perception of Radio Hammery, and, indeed, may well serve to dismay those who are potential candidates to become _REAL_ Radio Hams.

Shame on all those who exhibit such infantile glee.

Let clear something up, first off I never posted anything on here or email steve anything about "dig up information on steve roberson" The post/ email were fake. I went to check my email one day and I got that nasty letter from steve. I could really fuck about that asshole but I will suggest this to him, He better make sure those EMAIL and or posts are from me or I WILL go after his ass for harassment. I done playing this fucking game.

Second off, I did pissed at Schwartz and complain to Googles and DOJ about his blog and it was took down. Same thing for those fucking Nazis at NIM. Same thing for other bitchwhore boards who use my copyrighted property.

No more fucking games anymore. I fucking seriously going after all you thief bastards including roberson.

Your technical experience, although you claim to know it all
Could barely serve to run the installation disk from AOL;
But still, in matters meaningless and tediously trivial,
You are the very model of a Usenet individual.

no spell check under Google and none under my other newsreader

I'll apologize ot your for your eyes but the demand made under threat (good mr ky4z has made plenty) that I must use one is something I refuse the exra time is just too costly and I do nothing under threat

I could get spelcheck for some fee on the other newreader but with it is being demanded I refuse on principle

We are the very model of the modern radio amateur
We like to speak to countries strange while sitting in our arm-a-chair,
Our QSOs with digimodes and microphone are hard earned (Of course we don't use rubbish like that old morse code we haven't learned).

We have a whizzy handheld 'coz it makes us look much neater -
Of course we don't use it to talk, just key up the repeater
Except of course when 'breakers' from two streets away give us a shout,
Then we tie it up for hours, forgetting 'bout the time out.

(Then we tie it up for hours, fogetting 'bout the time out.)

We don't know what a dipole is so can't get ourselves on the air
But Echolink and E-QueSo means that we really couldn't care
With every cheaper foreign calls you'd wonder why we bother -
The answer to that mystery still hasn't been discovered.

I think this could be better - but it's Friday night, so time for even me to go and get a life!

We'd need a few more tracks. Maybe:
"You gotta troll with it" by Oasis
"Rant music" by Adam and The Ants
"You won't work another fool M3" by The New Seekers
"I gotta brand new M3 licence" by Melanie
"Milk and methylated spirit" by Dr Feelgood
"Meths in the jar" by Thin Lizzy
"I go to sheep" by The Pretenders
"R.S.C.B" by The Village People

Why is it that the most fucked-up-the-ass newsgroups on Usenet always seem to have some connection to ham radio? I mean when I went to a hamfest many years ago, I saw the biggest collection

I mean even the weekend flea marked didn't hav a greater collection

Let clear something up, first off I never posted anything on here or email steve anything about "dig up information on steve roberson" The post/ email were fake. I went to check my email one day and I got that nasty letter from steve. I could really fuck about that asshole but I will suggest this to him, He better make sure those EMAIL and or posts are from me or I WILL go after his ass for harassment. I done playing this fucking game.

Second off, I did pissed at Schwartz and complain to Googles and DOJ about his blog and it was took down. Same thing for those fucking Nazis at NIM. Same thing for other bitchwhore boards who use my copyrighted property.

No more fucking games anymore. I fucking seriously going after all you thief bastards including roberson.

4238. Turner Radio Network Shutdown... For Now

The website of conservative cyber-radio host Hal Turner has been temporarily derailed, allegedly by anti-racist losers who bitterly whined to the company that supplies the server of the Internet broadcast.

Sources tell ARL that the server objected to Turner's use of "racist" content on his website. This, according to our sources, this is a breach of contract between Turner and the Hosting company, as the agreement specifies "no shutdown of lawful content."

Turner's main server was nearly destroyed by a DDOS attack allegedly eminating from Israel on Feburary 2nd. The target of that attack was Frank Weltner's website Jew Watch, which Turner has been hosting ever since the "scholarly research archive of articles" was kicked out of its Boca Raton, Florida hosting service by kvetching members of the ADL. Since starting to host the site in the beginning of January 2006, Turner's servers have become an increasing target of DDOS attacks, and Turner himself reportedly has been targeted personally.

Quixotically, Jew Watch remains online, while Turner is not.

It is also believed that Turner's website derailment is part of the ongoing N.I.M. Blogwar, which has become increasingly bizzare and aggressive over the past few days. The name of the company hosting Turner's site was posted on the blog of ADL informant Harry Schwartz, as well as several posts on the N.I.M. Busters message board. Whether it was Schwartz who contacted the owner of Turner's servers is unknown as of this writing.

Turner, who has been knocked offline before and even had to shut down his network for most of 2004, will undoubtedly come back. In a statement posted to NSM "Minister of Information" Vonbluvens' blog, Turner is reportedly planning a lawsuit against his service provider.

Indeed, in consideration that the FAQ is maintaining a stance for the traditions of _REAL_ Ham Radio, the traditions of technical motivation and gentlemanly conduct, against the influx of the Mongolian Hordes of CBers of one sort or another, it would be reasonable to assume that the chorus of abusive and infantile objectors are all from the CB camp, and therefore providing graphic illustration of why it is necessary to take this stance now.

It would seem that the CBer-Masquerading-As-A-Radio-Ham is no recent phenomena - there are some hoilding licences issued in the G4K-- series.

Irrespective of when such licences were issued, public outbursts of Childish Behaviour (CB) do the cause of Radio Hammery no good at all.

Has this chappy got as far as upgrading the so-called 'faq' (which might be frequent but has little else to recommend it) to include the warning that 'repairing with gusto' only applies to transistorised PAs with low power output and not compact valve PAs with 600V on the anodes?

If not, why did he introduce that caveat elsewhere?

Still, let us not forget this was the same chappy who sold an FT-101 because the tune-up pages were missing from the manual.

The conondrum is that Steve claims he doesn't have any aliases. Which leads me to believe multiple personality disorder is at play. But I also know that Steve lies and forges attributes, and he says he doesn't do any of that either. So basically, there is what Steve says, and then there is what Steve does.

Are there any other snippets about Mrs.Nugatory?

The only things I know about her is her habit of cowering behind twitching curtains, her watching of the film, "The Bitches of Toko-Roko", and being able to prove in 20-page obsessive (and irrelevant) dissertations that I know nothing about certain topics based purely on my use of a comma in place of a semi-colon.

The Glen Dale hot spot, the Shipwreck Lounge, is now IN and all kewl pple know it. For a good time watching house movies and meeting local shemales, come to

The Shipwreck Lounge
23 Ohio St
Glen Dale, WV 26038
Main Phone: 304-845-3500

every Saturday night. You can't miss it because it is right at the end of Ohio Street between the RR tracks and the river. Be sure to bring yer cents of humor with you, plus carry a weapon.

Instead of karaoke, The Shipwreck holds a blinds peeking contest ever Saturday nite at 11pm sharp. You peeks out from behind some special blinds and the patrons try to guess who you are. Right now, the town hiding champion is someone named Mr Woger, and so he is the one to beat.

Besides that, The Shipwreck has a cussing, farting, and nose-picking triathalon you can watch or even enter yerself. Mr Woger, the Merv Griffin of scat, thought it up all by hisself. It starts right after the blinds peeking contest.

We have fun, fun, fun, fun, fun ever Saturday night. Be there or be square.

why Tom?

and if you use the same name for your annymouse activity as a noted writer uses for her chief villan you have expect you might get either Tom Riddle or Lord Voldemort

I happen to prefer Tom Riddle since you decline to give your true name
I give one that clearly fits

Woger has gone on record in denying the fact that he has ever set foot in the Shipwreck. Of course anyone who knows Roger is well aware that Roger is a congenital liar, so his denials are most likely bogus.
It will be interesting to see what Roger has to say about this post...or should I say, "Not Roger"? The vertically challenged Jammer has much to say, but all in the third person.
Poor Woger...he stands about five foot four inches in his high heels...and his mouth far overloads his ability to get physical with anyone half his size.

Best watch out, Wog. Get Toad upset enough and one of these days little Toad may work up enough courage to send his Mommie to pay you a visit.
Maybe Toad can enlist the aid of Chief Norm Stenger of the Glendale PD to get you to shut up. After all, Wog, the Chief knows you well, eh?

Eh, Fucknuts, those that throw stones inside a glass house......

Saggytits Lee steps on his own tiny dick when he tried to correct somebody else's English use first by saying one "operates" a dictionary instead of reading it, then uses "things" instead of "thinks" in <jewish.reggae.rocks@houston-hunks.com>:

"Translation: Woger can't figure out how to operate a dictionary, let alone correct someone else's language.But that's not surprising from someone who things that..."

Saggytits Lee manages to fumble again when he tried to backpedal on his improper use of words by once again mangling the sentence in reply <gweasy.long.hair@houston-hunks.com>:
"The word "operate" can be a synonym "use" in certain contexts"

Saggytits Lee (SLee@houston-hunks.com) talks out of his fat ignorant ass again in:
<secwet.googley.woger@houston-hunks.com>:
"did you know, Woger, that some of the anonymous remailers are operated by the CIA?"

Saggytits Lee fucks up again and thinks Roger Wiseman has "long hair" in <st.paul.hates.wogers.hair@houston-hunks.com>:
"Long hair like yours"

Saggy tits Lee, unthinking fuckwit, apologizes and makes excuses for his lack of rational reasoning ability in Message-ID:

<wogers.sig.cwacks.me.up@houston-hunks.com>:
"an inability to "rationalize" is a highly desirable trait."

Backpedal Boy Faggot Lee admits he's a poor bastard in

"Unlike the rest of us poor bastards..."

Stagger Backpedal Boy Lee who claims to be an expert on everything electronic/computer reveals why he's such an "expert" because he plagiarizes from other

"I finally quoted the Intel literature..."

BACKPEDAL BOY Lee <SLee@houston-hunks.com> whined that he celebrates his half-black heritage by observing Kwanzaa, and validating the fact he is an illegitimate whore's child in <it.was.something.to.do@houston-hunks.com>:
"A holiday made up by a convicted felon? You bet I celebrate it."

In article <stupid.imposter@houston-hunks.com>
Stagger BACKPEDAL BOY Lee <SLee@houston-hunks.com> the "BOY Blunder"

"Stop impersonating Lloyd, Woger, or you could lose your AOL account the quantum electrodynamics of degenerate stellar atmospheres.

Unfortunately, the use of the word "degenerate" in his thesis nearly got him kicked out of Notre Dame. He straightened the situation out, and managed to graduate "semper ubi sub ubi" with the class of 1940, and immediately left for his favorite Chicago suburb -- Calumet City -- to start his life as a brand-new astrophysicist.

It was then that he got drafted into the army, so he put his ambitions aside and served his country as one of the most accomplished martial artists of the WWII era.

He had learned martial arts as a boy member of the Mafia in Chicago, and he single-handedly invaded several Japanese islands during WWII. Mayor Daily awarded him with the keys to the brothels of Chicago when he returned from the Pacific theatre, and that's how he met my mother.

 Abstract

This review work is a compilation of observations and impressions of the author after her initial attempt at contributing to a Darkfriend gathering in Toledo, OH, in the holy shrine of the group that is named Chez Moo, between 03.30.2001 and 04.01.2001.
Experimental procedure is outlined and selected results are presented.

Keywords: Wind, Darkfriends, Chez Moo, Kotobuki, shoulder rubs, margarita, tofu, anime, mead, COSI, quotes, "Wicked".

 Introduction

...a wind rose over the Atlantic Ocean. The wind was not the beginning. That had come when I'd picked up the Dragon Reborn, lo so many years ago. But it was _a_ beginning.

The wind blew inland and touched me at my workstation in College Park, UMD campus, just in time for me to perk up reading Ray Chason's answer to Maggie's invitation--"I have room for two or three more from the Baltimore-Washington area".

The weave of the moment was set. The Horn had been blown, and I had to follow. I followed.

 Experimental Procedure

Ray collected me from College Park around 7:30 am and stepped on it--figuratively speaking, he's one of the most cautious and solid drivers I've ever had a ride with--and we were at Laura's place in Cumberland, Maryland, 15 minutes ahead of schedule. Misty adventures on the slopes of Philadelphian mountains followed. At one point, the fog elicited the comment "this isn't fog, this is bubble of evil material."

But no mishaps and only one major weirdness (see Results section) later, we were pulling in Maggie's parking lot.

We parked, walked to the front door. No doorbells. There is a basement-level window open next to the door, and through it a black cat with very, very green eyes is intently watching us. I remembered, from previous social reports, that it would be a basement apartment and that it contained cats, so I attempted, through mental and verbal suggestion, to convince the cat to go call his mistress to the window.

Cat didn't budge.

There were children's toys visible; coupled with the cat and the basement location, it was very likely that this was the correct apartment.

Taking a deep breath, me and Laura strayed two steps from the concrete path to look deeper into the apartment. And I found myself looking directly at The Humblest.

Tremulously, I displayed Ray's Dragon's Fang.

He made a hand motion. I thought he meant "come in." I said, "The door is locked." He repeated the motion. This time I interpreted it correctly--around. "Ray, Laura, there is a back door."

There was.

Ten minutes and hugs and handshakes later, we were all settled in Chez Moo, to be finally formally introduced to JSNIII, Kenn Cavness, and Anne Willick. Conversation opened with the obligatory newsgroup remarks and gossip, during the duration of which Pam Korda, Darryl Sheakley and Steve Ginter arrived; nice rants were reminisced upon, September was looked back on with contempt (to my horror, I discovered that September was the year when I made initial connection, the shame), some people were advised to chill out--shame they weren't there. Novak advertised flunky story. Steve brought mead, which drew appreciative glances. Mark, Maggie's "spousal unit" appeared. Kids ran around, were ordered to tidy their room, ran around, were ordered to.... you get the idea. Maggie resisted all attempts at helping her out in the kitchen.

Considering what the food was like when it was ready, she apparently didn't need it. I'm afraid she is looking at a bleak future of attempts from me to pry recipes out of her. Yum.

Somewhere in that conversation, it was established that Novak had never seen Iron Chef. It was agreed upon by consensus that he should--not that we all didn't want to see it anyway. It wasn't yet time for Steve to go pick up Leah from the airport, so we settled around the TV.

I sensed a presence behind me, and twisted around to see Steve hovering there with hands twisted into claws. He either intended to kill me summarily, or perform the other obvious alternative. I didn't have far to go even if I ran, so I submitted to my fate.

My shoulders hadn't felt that good in months. Steve Gaidin knows what he's doing with those, to borrow and modify a phrase from Darryl, +10 hands. Thank you, Steve.

Darryl's artwork was passed around and admired. His drawing of Loial needs to be reproduced on a piece of sheet steel with laser engraving, and then used to beat D.K.Sweet over the head with.

The Iron Chef battle was, of all things, on tofu, which spawned all kinds of wisecracks. Steve went to pick up Leah with Maggie and Kenn. Leah's plane had been delayed several times. Half an hour or so after they left, the phone rang. We glanced, Novak said someone should pick it up, I picked it up. Call from payphone. A tired female voice. "Are you Leah Cole?" Affirmative. "Steve, Maggie and Kenn left about half an hour ago to pick you up, so if you hang around the gate, I guess..."

The four arrived, and Leah promptly demonstrated The Lap. That would spread. More conversation ensued and quotes were recorded.

Saturday, we who crashed in the kids' room woke up to the sounds of kids playing with the laptop on the top bunk and the smell of coffee drifting in. Breakfast was wonderful. Snuggling on the coach/floor, cartoons were watched, as Anne left and reappeared with Jeff Huo. More conversation appeared. Novak talked about the flunky, and he didn't disappoint ("He paid _how much_ for a watch?"). As we were getting ready to invade COSI, Darryl left.

COSI, the interactive-science museum in downtown Toledo, was several different kinds of fun--balance fun, wet fun, light fun, reflex fun, reaction fun, electrical fun. Darkfriends shot at each other's watergun streams. Novak demolished the world's climate ("Let's set the axis tilt to 90 degrees..."). Mark set up hurricanes. Some darkfriends repeatedly crashed into the 45-degree tilted walls in the warped-gravity house.

Two hours of good clean fun later, the Green Squadron (our mode of transportation consisted of three cars following each other, all various shades of green) returned to Maggie's place to drop the kids and pick up Laura, who'd stayed home. Maggie's teenage neighbours appeared to sit with the kids and Green Squadron was deployed once more.

Kotobuki is a small restaurant with very prompt service and good food. I had never thought I'd eat octopus, but having ordered mixed sushi, I lived with my decision.

Me--> Choke, gasp, attack the water glass-- Mark --> "I see she's discovered the wasabi."

After the ginger ice-cream (mmmmm), we piled back into the cars. A contingent split in search of shakes. We converged back on Maggie's place, margaritas were mixed and Laura's anime tapes were popped in.

They were Wicked.

I sort of missed the ending of the last one, though, because Novak's shoulder was too comfortable and I was tired...

Next morning, I woke up as the last person, Darryl having left; first I thought the conversation drifting to my (sleepy) ears was something on the television. Novak's and Jeff Huo's voices were very... profound, I guess. I staggered to the living room into the midst of a discussion about AIDS research. It was, like most of the scattered conversations over the weekend about almost everything under the sun, interesting and informative.

Maggie's Creme Brulee French Toast was..... Maggie, recipe? :-)

Alas, things might not have beginnings but some of them do have an end, and facing a 10 hour drive back, the Marylanders had to start back soon after... We followed a different route back, and it was sometimes heavy rain instead of fog this time, but everyone returned safely.

 Experimental Results

Note about the data extraction procedure: Since I was there before the Keeper of the Chronicles, I started taking notes in her stead. When she arrived, it was decided that I should continue also, for better coverage. Some of the data points were obtained by using the "shamelessly take out of context" technique.

* About how "Novak" is pronounced: "I don't care if he says it's pronounced 'Sarah', I am not going to argue." -- Laura

* The sign on an auto body shop somewhere in PA:
Picasso Auto Body (the implications about mental images are left as an exercise to the reader)

* - Kenn: I didn't drop that glass! I set it down...
- Novak: ...in midair...

* About being "Mormonized": "...I'd just got up, hair all over the place, scruffly beard, t-shirt, shorts; look through the peephole, cute women! Open the door---_oh, shit_." -- Novak

* About Maggie's kids running around and around chasing each other:
- Zeynep: It's like having cats, only taller.
- Novak: Cats with opposable thumbs?

 Conclusions

Darkfriends are wonderful people. Other Darkfriends were with us in spirit, and, extrapolating from what I've seen, I'm going to assume the wonders haven't ceased yet.

I should make a positive effort to attend future socials.

In fact, it being conclusively proven to me that an apartment social is feasible, I'm beginning to Get Ideas--I have an apartment.
Only, I can't cook worth beans next to Maggie. That might be a problem...

 Acknowledgements

I owe thanks to a lot of people.

To Maggie and Mark, for opening their home to us. To Maggie, again, for getting it all rolling, and for being the focal point for all those wonderful people.

To Ray Chason, for making it possible for me to attend.

To all the Darkfriends in attendance for the laughs, the conversations, the wittiness, the sharing-of-experiences, the backrubs and the fun in general...

If you could read them, you'd see t like most everybody else that they are not anything from the FCc, but the ARRL new reporting.

You and Toad jam on 20 meters. Proven fact, Lardass.

July 11, 2000

CERTIFIED MAIL--RETURN RECEIPT REQUESTED

Mr. Roger L. Wiseman

610 Glen Haven Avenue

SUBJECT: Amateur Radio license KC8JBO

Dear Mr. Wiseman:

Pursuant to Section 97.519(d)(2) of the Commission's Rules, 47 C.F.R.
Section 97.519(d)(2), the Commission has the authority to re-administer any examination element previously administered by Volunteer Examiners (VE's).
The Commission may either administer the examination itself, or under the supervision of a Volunteer Examiner Coordinator (VEC) or VE designated by the Commission.

Accordingly, we are requiring you to re-take the General Class Amateur Examination, (Elements 2, 3(A) and 3(B)) under the supervision of an American Radio Relay League Volunteer Examiner Coordinator. This examination must be completed on or before September 11, 2000. The required code speed

that you must demonstrate is 5 words per minute.

Please be prepared to verify your current address and to present a photo identification. Pursuant to Commission rules, your license will be cancelled
if you do not appear for re-examination. You will be granted an Amateur Radio license consistent with the elements you pass upon re-examination.

Sincerely,

W. Riley Hollingsworth

Special Counsel, Amateur Radio

Enforcement Bureau

Roger even upgraded to the Extra class, while you still have a training wheel ham license for beginners.

so?

doesn't alter the fact you can't form a cogent insult without Robeson showing you how you are pathetic

not at all but it is legaly a consipracy though actions taken in furtherance of the same criminal end

in this case stalking and harrasment

I heard that when you got arrested for fucking that pumpkin, Davies, that Officer Taylor
relly felt like she didn't have to call a male officer to strip search you, since you had the equipment of a woman......

I heard that when you got arrested for DUI last Novermber you whined that Officer Taylor actually get a male officer to do it ddespite the fact that when she arrested you for fucking that pumpkin before, she saw that you had the "equipment" of a woman. "No wonder you are still a virgin," is what she said in her report.

long runon sentence

but the real truth is you can't KNOW am I a "moron" not everybody else
"kows" it I certainly don't know it is is simply not the case

what is the case is thatyou are dumb enough to think dyslexia is related to IQ

it is just that simple

How about (RVolger at cityofglendalewv dot com) as a place to send copies of your posts? I'm sure that Volger can contact both Google and Microsoft to find proof of your real ID.

After that, he can have you recomitted to the mental hospital.

Unknown to me. I did a search using "Mike Coslo" and variations, found only newsgroup messages (rec.radio and others) and some stuff on amateur astronomy and star-gazing. Mike has posted a couple messages in rec.radio.amateur.homebrew in January.

Actually, right on cue, Mrs.Nugatory has continued with her stalking of me, with another sock puppet that provides a graphic illustration of the critique below!

Go to uk.rec.models.engineering, and google for author, "Novae Artes"; the modus operandi is unmistakeable!

She demonstrates so well her neurotic obsession coupled with her desperate need to make insulting remarks in a long and vitriolic diatribe that once again, seizes on some trivial and irrelevant point. (The Yanks almost certainly will not have heard of Araldite)

Not only that, but by having to go to the web to find some material to quote from somebody else, she demonstrates so well that not only does she know nothing about the simple mechanical and electrical properties of tuning condensers, she knows nothing about anything and is incapable of enjoining discussion off the top of her head. It is no wonder that in an interest that is calimed to have lasted for 50 years, she has not achieved any licence, not even an M3/CB Fools' Licence promoted by the gangrenous degeneration that is the RSCB council and all its members.

What a silly, silly girl is she!

The Psychiatrists report:

When the orator for decency aka Gareth Evans is challenged, criticised, or just ridiculed,
He refers to the other person(s) as she.

So it seems in order to denigrate them he changes their gender to female in his postings.

This is extremely interesting, and points to a hatred of females, followed by their subjugation by him.
It could also be coupled to a deep loathing of his mother who possibly failed him some way in his eyes.

Such problems are not uncommon in males who have a problem with normal life.
Also it is quite common in sexually dysfunctional subjects.

I would warn females not to approach an individual with such a profile

His wife has a lot to endure with the obsessive nature of her husband, and we should feel sorry for her.

This is a case that we will have to study more closely.

That was right after your mommy caught you stealing money from her purse and you physically assulted her.

Not-Ham throws an infantile temper tantrum at having been outed as R-F-R, and invokes another of his many deranged aliases in a desperate attempt to divert attention away from him.....

The Psychiatrists report:

When the orator for decency aka Gareth Evans is challenged, criticised, or just ridiculed,
He refers to the other person(s) as she.

So it seems in order to denigrate them he changes their gender to female in his postings.

This is extremely interesting, and points to a hatred of females, followed by their subjugation by him.
It could also be coupled to a deep loathing of his mother who possibly failed him some way in his eyes.

Such problems are not uncommon in males who have a problem with normal life.
Also it is quite common in sexually dysfunctional subjects.

I would warn females not to approach an individual with such a profile

His wife has a lot to endure with the obsessive nature of her husband, and we should feel sorry for her.

This is a case that we will have to study more closely.

You are rather stupid, Toodles. You don't have to set up the proxy, and you know it. And as for suggesting what people post, you are in no position to say anything, given your spam and off topic blatherings. So follow your own advice and STFU, Toodles.

acually yeah you do, at lease on a Mac you do. You have they type in what proxy your going through. I don't have any proxy for the simple reason that I run over 25 websites on this computer, and on a mac if you turn the proxy on people will not be able to access the webserver that i'm running on this computer.

here's some neat information to help Problems Using The Proxy Server

I have Internet Explorer running on a Mac. Why can't I use the proxy server?

No version of Internet Explorer for the Macintosh, including IE 5.0, has the "Automatic Proxy Configuration" capability. It is not likely that Microsoft will address this problem. We suggest you download Netscape if you want to use the proxy server.

When I configure Netscape to use the proxy server on my Mac, the machine crashes. What can I do?

Netscape 4.x crashes on the Macintosh (but only on the Macintosh) when configured to use the proxy server. The cause for this seems to be an unpublished limitation on the size of the proxy server automatic configuration script in the Macintosh implementation of Netscape 4.x. Evidently around July of 2001 the number of resources listed in our automatic configuration script (from URL http://proxy.lib.berkeley.edu/proxy.pac) caused the size of this file to exceed this unforeseen limitation.

If your Macintosh runs MacOS 8.6 or later and has at least 64MB of memory (RAM), you can avoid this problem by installing Netscape 6.x or the current Mozilla.

If your Macintosh is not capable of running the more modern browsers, you can continue to use Netscape 4.x by configuring it to use a shortened version of the automatic configuration script at URL

http://proxy.lib.berkeley.edu/small.pac (for the conventional PIN-authenticating proxy server) or

http://proxy.lib.berkeley.edu/smcalnet.pac
(for the CalNet-authenticating proxy server). If the resources you need are not available via these shortened configuration scripts, please submit the Proxy Server Problem Report Form and we'll try to accommodate your needs.

NOTE: I don't file Proxy.pac on my computer, thus, I don't a proxy because you need that file to run a proxy.

I see from the interesting thread on uk.rec.models.engineering, and a posting in this thread, that the OP has now gone into his 'deflect attention' mode.

in this case he has chosen the mechanism - which he can name but doubtless will not do so - of mentioning something irrelevant to support what passes for his argument (if it can be graced with such a name). He said that "The Yanks almost certainly will not have heard of Araldite", completely missing the point that the original development of the precursors to the Araldite range were German and Swiss, and the product marketed internationally!

What a narrow outlook, slim technical base, and thin skin this chap has.

BTW, what happened to his situation that has made his plea ("Sorry - no Internet access during the week.") nugatory? Some sort of ISP failure? A 'high moral stance' in relation to a professional concern? One wonders - for a microsecond or so.

Welp, I can recall when the coders got "thier" knickers in a bunch because I either wasted time with my children or I wasted time on the web when I should have been spending more time learning faster code which I had no intention of doing until I retired.

Now we've got Coslo claiming he's going to start up a balloon project and doesn't and that he's going to start up a BBS project and doesn't.

I'm really proud of these human dynamo's that pass judgement on how I don't spend my time, but clearly can't accomplish the goals that they set for themselves.

no such consenous exists basicalyonly you and steve (who seems to have quit the filed seem to think that just becuase there are several of you in your demented skull doesn't mean you each get a vote

even if it existed it would be meaningless

Yeah!

Come to SC and stay at Bro, Stair's Overcommer Xian Commune in Walterboro, where fine white xians allegedly "enjoyed" the company of young black girls, similar to what T Jefferson allegedly did to Sally Hemmings or MLK allegedly did to 2 or 3 white girls up thru 1968
on a weekend basis....depending on your flavor! (wooo hoooo!!)

Look in here: http://www.thenetteam.net/

Also look here for some sorrid sex-loaded stories of how some self-appointed SC xian "Prophets" and "Ministers" would 'minister' to the 'flock' after hours or in the hot summer at noontime! (almost as good a read as those 5 by 6 inch Dirty-Stories paperbacks on the news stand at the lottery and smoke shop)
HERE: http://www.thenetteam.net/test.html

Yes, come to SC where there's more hot action going on in the church than in Jimmi Swaggart's alleged carrying-on's in that $20 Baton Rouge whorehouse. wheeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeee!

This is nothing new of course:
http://www.postfun.com/pfp/features/97/oct/hargis.html

"Billy James Hargis (thankfully now dead having died penniless) built a career
howling against the usual things that irritate the umbrageous right; sex, permissiveness, drugs, communism. A flat faced Oklahoman with the porcine eyes of a prison guard, he went from nowhere to top billing on 140 tv and 500 radio stations. He founded a Christian college and a newspaper which attained a circulation of 200,000.
He got rich, of course, but as the bible tells us, money isn't everything.....

In the mid-seventies, two students from his Bible College testified that the Reverend had officiated at their wedding ceremony, gone along on the honeymoon, and took his turn with the bride. And then with the groom. Then it came out that Hargis had been bringing college choir boys to his farm. Exhorting them with the biblical passage about David's friendship with Jonathan, and threatening them with blacklisting if they talked, Billy took them into his bed and did his devilish business with them.
(The name of the choir was the "All American Kids.") Confronted with these accusations, Hargis admitted it all, blaming it on "Genes and chromosomes."
"I was guilty of sin," he told a Tulsa reporter in 1985, "but not the sin I was accused of."

.....Sure Billy ;)

I would rather live under Federal Tyranny that under Christian Tyranny any day of the week bunkie, this including Sabbath day, be it Saturday or Sunday or whatever kooky calendar you follow out of that book you live by that's been revised and edited 100+ times since it was printed to be a shell of it's former literary self.....
Sheesh what moe-rons! I could easily see you xians burning Embassies like the Islamics do over a stupid-assed cartoon or something too...

" The power of the Executive to cast a man into prison without formulating any charge known to the law, and particularly to deny him the judgement of his peers, is in the highest degree odious and is the foundation of all totalitarian government whether Nazi or Communist." -- W. Churchill, Nov

21, 1943 (....Or whether it's Christofascist Republicans.)

"When the powers of state, that have been mandated to reach out and protect the interest of people, begin to usurp the Constitution and undermine our laws, people must rise up and speak against the regime. If the citizens fail to hear that call, they should be charged with patriotic treason." -- Theodore Roosevelt, the 26th President of the United States (1901-1909) (Every Bush Republican is a traitor and a seditionist according to Theodore Roosevelt.)

Still doesn't mean it's a real workibg address, shithead. You stick to that "Weekend Computer" sticking in obsolete ram chips because you don't know shit about the computer, tubby.
In fact the ionly working e-mail adress for them is the tip e-mail adress. You lose, mentally ill moron.

You see Roger everywhere, fatty......you are his gay stalker.

PS. The FBI has been made aware of your attitudes about blacks and your threats to burn down churches..have fun thinking about them knocking on your door again, kiddie porn maker. They know you are behind the latest torchings in Alabama.

What is "Menatl" Roger?
What is a "Duid" Roger? Is that one of those Shemales that you love so well.
Can you spell Independence? Can you spell anything correctly, you 12th grade flunkout?
Oh, I forgot that you can't spell independence because you don't understand the meaning of the word.

What is "heer" and "ina" Roger? Heer rhymes with Queer and that's you Woger.
But that's the effect of attending the crappy schools in West Virginia and Florida, Bubba Boy!

Billy "hot for Roger's cock" Smith fucks up again and sees his owner everywhere:
> What is <Hey, Lardass, tell us why all you have is a GED>

"breaddead" - LLoyd hasn't got anything upstairs in the oven
"defenseive" - Lardass is "defensive" of his ignorance
"counter-offenseive" - When LARDASS LLoyds attack
"nights" - Athens ASSHOLE was referring to last "night's" masturbation session
"I forget to set the playlist in Winamp to repeat!" - Mongolloyd also "forgets" the use of past tense, or maybe he just does as usual, fucks up!
"Techincal" - Lloyd just hates those "technical" things
"Dalkes" - Lloyd's granddad remembers when movies became
"talkies" too bad LARDASS learned to Dalk <sic>
"That it!" - When Mongolloyds get real mad, they talk like Tor Johnson
"Woger" - LARDASS closely identifies with Elmer Fudd with his lack of hair and all, not to mention the same lisp!
"decide on weather or not" - It's always "stormy weather" with Lloyd deciding "whether" or not to use correct English
"can not" - Mongolloyd is wondering how he "cannot" seem to get ahead in life
"is'nt" - "Isn't" LARDASS cute when he is mad?

You seem to obsess over Roger. It sounds as if you are the queer of the HUD apartmert complex you have to live in with those niggers you and your whore mommy suck off on a nightly basis. And, you are so in love with Roger, but he isn't a queer like you are.
But, all you will ever be is a minimum wage pizza delivery BOY.................

I've taken all of Tood's shemale photos away from him. Please let me know if he posts any more NIM Busters shemale porn. If he does,
I will lock him in the basement again without access to a computer.

Better go back and check the archives, dumbass, lots of anons busted Steve on his misspellings. Just not his spelling of Malarkey.
It's correct.

Those drawings make me want to weep. I thought I gave Todd a good start on life, but instead I discover that my kid likes to look at drawings of innocent, crying children getting raped. Not only that, but he distributes that perverted ugliness to other sick pedos over the internet.

I am deeply ashamed. The name Daughtery has had honor up until the time that Todd's sickness besmirched it. Now our name is becoming dirt as Todd drags it through the mud.

I guess that he hates both me an his mom. There is no other explanation as to why he is doing this to us and to our family name.

My sincere apologies for bringing him into this world, Jimmmy D.

The comments are reaching close to 1000. Scanning them, not a real count, there seems to be very little support for either.
Biggest objection to the ARRL one is that it would allow robot operations to spread across much more of the band. Part of this is objecting to their use of proprietary equipment (e.g. PACTOR III or WINLINK) so that checking for illegal content would be difficult.
Other commoncomplaints are a very narrow CW area for 40 and not including 160. There is also a group objecting loudly to elimination of AM but I didn't think the proposal said that. 11305 seems to have even fewer proponents; most think it will cause chaos since they have no trust in gentlemen's agreements.
There was a comment here concerned that there would no longer be a CW only segment on 6; I did not see that comment filed but I haven't read them all.
73, John

Way back when Roger was but a toddler, back when his mommy was a sharecropper, she used to care for her Massa's garden. Part of taking care of the flowers meant she had to use Pansy Spray. Yeah, you guessed it. One day Little Roger's mommy accidentally sprayed him with the Pansy Spray.
Result? Look at him now!

Hey! I happen to LIKE those she-male cartoons of the Prophet Mohammad!

Esp when he/she is doing it with 4 other he/she's in an orgy of excess and dissipation that would make Soddom and Gohmorrah blush with embarassment.

Roger often calls the Muslims "ragheads" and challenges them to send Camel Jockeys to visit him. After all, Roger has that "big .22 rifle" next to his door. Roger agrees that women should wear head gear to cover their ugly, hirsute faces and that Muslim women should be beaten for not obeying their Camel Jocky, Raghead husbands. Heck, Roger beat his own mother, for crying out loud!

Roger also pokes fun at the nutty Arabs for having big noses and laughs that Muslims have sex with sheep. This causes Roger no small amount of jealousy because he wishes he had a couple lambs, too.
The problem is that Roger Wiseman is a Jew, and as such is never going to see eye-to-eye with an Arab who takes baths with dogs.

Iran's Interior Ministry ordered people to stop stabbing themselves in the head during Shiite mourning rituals. "Wounding one's head with daggers is not in Islamic tradition," spiritual leader Ayatollah Ali Khamenei said, "We should not do things that would make us appear as a superstitious and illogical group in the eyes of non-Muslims of the world."

BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA sheep fucking Davies, he's always projecting his perversions onto others. Looks like he's graduated from pumpkins to sheep.....

The Great Pumpkin
Birmingham Post-Herald
October 14, 2000

Police arrested Lloyd A. Davies, a 27 year old white male, resident of Athens, Alabama in the Anderson Pumpkin patch at 11:38pm Friday. Davies will be charged with lewd and lascivious behavior, public indecency, and public intoxication at the Athens Municipal Courthouse Monday. The suspect allegedly stated that as he was passing a pumpkin patch, he decided to stop. "You know, a pumpkin is soft and squishy inside, and there was no one around here for miles. At least I thought there wasn't." he stated in a phone interview from the Athens Municipal Courthouse Jail.

Davies went on to state that he pulled over to the side of the road, picked out a pumpkin that he felt was appropriate to his purposes, cut a hole in it, and proceeded to satisfy his alleged "need". "I guess I was just really into it, you know?" he commented with evident embarrassment. In the process, Torrance apparently failed to notice the

Athens Municipal police car approaching and was unaware of his audience until officer Brenda Taylor approached him. "It was an unusual situation, sure." said officer Taylor. "I walked up to (Davies) and he's... just working away at this pumpkin." Taylor went on to describe what happened when she approached Davies. "I just went up and said, 'Excuse me sir, but do you realize that you are screwing a pumpkin?' He got real surprised as you'd expect, and then looked me straight in the face and said,

'A pumpkin? Damn... is it midnight already?"

We know you have Davies, just like your older brother., the convicted felon Ray L. Davies, Jr.

http://www.iowacourts.state.ia.us/

Shows the complete Davies family records....Lloyd's older brother Ray Davies, Jr. is a convicted Felon, his sister and him and his daddy all have criminal records.

In addition, Lloyd was committed for a YEAR to:
Mental Health Institute 2277 Iowa Avenue
Independence, Iowa 50644
319 - 334 -2583
t...@dhs.state.ia.us

and he is currently an outpatient at:
Athens-Limestone Community Clinic/ACCESS
1307 E. Elm Street
Athens, AL 35611
Phone: (256) 323-3661
http://www.mhcnca.org/

On the bright side. I know Lloyd is suffering from depression. I know that he is aware that he's a total fuck-up, and a grossly obese, retarded pig with a misshapen head. Soon, Lloyd will either die from heart failure, or he will suffer serious complications due to his obesity. One thing for certain, Lloyd will never live to see 45. He only has 15 years left of life. And the next 15 years will be his deterioration. The remaining years of Lloyd's life won't be pleasant. And because he is such a fucking loser, he will be spending his remaining years all alone, in a small apartment, surrounded by niggers,

What a miserable existence. Lloyd really should listen to his detractors and blow his brains out. But I'm glad he doesn't, I don't want the homosexual pig to go the easy way out. I want him to suffer. He has no clue what the future has in stored for him.

It won't be pretty.

What is Ham Radio?

(Preface)
It is becoming increasingly difficult to fly the flag for decency and for civilised behaviour in Radio Hammery. Even the Usenet newsgroups dedicated to the cause have degenerated into a hotbed of abusive onslaughts by those who ought to know better.
However, there still exists the fundamental basis on which Ham Radio is based, and that will never die. This FAQ ("What Is Ham Radio?") will be regularly published and will not be shouted or bullied down. It is important that those of a technical bent, who are the natural seed-corn of Radio Hammery and who gravitate towards us to be the real novitiate, can still find us, (and know that we are still here), their fellows.

-----ooooo-----

Please remember that this FAQ is a _POSITIVE EXHORTATION_ to you to exert yourselves to join our fraternity! (If you find otherwise, then perhaps you are already classing yourself in the mediocre groups of those who are criticised in the FAQ and from whom we _MUST_ dissociate? If so - it's never too late for a re-taxonomisation on your part - there's nothing elitist about us, and we welcome all those who are prepared to put themselves out in order to join our ranks!)

-----ooooo-----
(Article)
So,.....What is Ham Radio?

Ham Radio is a technical pursuit for those who are interested in the science of radio wave propagation and who are also interested in the way that their radios function. It has a long-standing tradition of providing a source of engineers who are born naturals.

Ham Radio awakens in its aficionados a whole-life fascination with all things technical and gives an all-abiding curiosity to improve one's scientific knowledge. It's a great swimming pool, please dive in!

This excitement causes a wish to share the experience with ones fellow man, and shows itself in the gentlemanly traditions of Ham Radio.

Radio Hams are in a unique privileged position in that they can construct and operate their own equipment! No-one else has this privilege. Users, such as broadcasters, the po lice and armed farces, CBers and mobile phone users have to purchase ready-made gear. Manufacturers are not licensed to operate their gear. Radio Hams are qualified to design, build and then operate their own pieces of equipment. They do this with gusto, and also repair and modify their own equipment. This is a privilege well worth the effort to gain, and one to be jealously guarded.

The excitement that drives a Radio Ham starts with relatively simple technologies at first, perhaps making his own Wimshurst machine and primary cells. Small pieces of test equipment follow, possibly multimeters and signal generators. Then comes receivers and transmitters. It is with the latter that communication with like-minded technically motivated people takes off. The scope for technical development grows with the years and now encompasses DSP and DDS. There is also a great deal of excitement in the areas of computer programming to be learnt and applied.

The technical excitement motivates Radio Hams to compete with each other to determine who has designed and manufactured the best-quality station. This competitiveness is found in DXing, competitions and fox-hunts.

-----OOOOO----

However, beware! A Ham Radio licence is such a desirable thing to have that there are large numbers of people who wish to be thought of as Radio Hams when, in fact, they are nothing of the kind! Usually such people are a variation of the CB Radio hobbyist; they buy their radios off the shelf and send them back to be repaired; they are not interested in technical discussion and sneer at those who are; they have no idea how their radios work inside and have no wish to find out;
they are free with rather silly personal insults;
they have not satisfied any technical qualification and their licences prevent the use of self-designed-and-built equipment.

These CB types engage in the competitive activities with their Cheque-Book-purchased off-the-shelf radios in a forlorn effort to prove that they are Radio Hams.

No _REAL_ Radio Hams are deceived by such people!

-----ooooo-----

One such CB type is the so-called "Not-Ham". Otherwise known as the CBer-Masquerading-As-A-Radio-Ham, this type had their background in the hobby that is CB Radio and not in the technical pursuits that lead up to a coveted Ham licence.
Easily recognised by their boasts of the criminal activity of 11 metre SSB operation, one wonders why they don't go back to the CB Bands if such bands are dearer in their hearts than are the Ham Bands? No _REAL Radio Hams associate with those who made an illegal installation of transmitting equipment before being in possession of an appropriate licence.

-----ooooo-----

One infallible way to disambiguate the CB Radio Hobbyist from the _REAL_ Radio Ham is to solicit their view of the difference between CB Radio and Ham Radio. A Radio Ham will perceive Ham Radio to be a technical pursuit and will perceive CB Radio to be a social communications facility no different in essence to a land-line telephone or a GSM mobile in the hands of a 6-year-old. Thus a Radio Ham could also hold a CB licence safe in the knowledge that such a licence says no more about him than having a land-line telephone, whilst continuing to regard Ham Radio as a separate technical pursuit.

A CB Radio hobbyist, on the other hand, sees no difference between a Ham Radio licence and a CB Radio licence. To him, they are sisters-under-the-skin. Wrongly, the CB Radio Hobbyist then tries to classify himself as the equal of the Radio Ham when, in fact, he is nothing of the kind. A sure sign of a CB Radio hobbyist is if he holds, or has ever held, a licence issued under the gangrenous degeneration that is the M3/CB Fools' Licence scheme.

-----ooooo-----

One group of people who claim to be of the standard of Radio Hams but who are in reality nothing more than an apology for the failure of a CBer are those class B
licensees who falsely proclaimed that they were against
the use of a Morse Test to control access to the HF
bands, until, that is, a test was introduced at their intellectual level, the intellectual level of 6-year-olds.

6 year-olds simply lack the mathematical tool kit to enable them to handle even the simplest algebraic manipulation for Ohm's Law and thus, the disgraceful Class Ber's in the aforementioned category are not Radio Hams by any stretch of the imagination!

Remember - A sure sign of a CB Radio hobbyist is if he holds,
or has ever held, a licence issued under the gangrenous degeneration that is the M3/CB Fools' Licence scheme!

ARRL LOOKING FOR MONEY

It seems the Asshole Radio Relay League (ARRL) is looking for money to run W1AW......Hmmm sounds to me like pecuniary interest to me.

>From the ARRL Website

Help support W1AW . . . more than an Amateur Radio tradition! (Feb 8, 2006) -- Since its dedication in 1938, ARRL Maxim Memorial Station W1AW has served as a beacon for the Amateur Radio community in the US and around the world. While a symbol of the past, W1AW continues to play an active role in Amateur Radio's present and in helping to forge its future. Experiments at W1AW include work with cutting-edge digital technologies and satellite reception techniques. Continuing traditions are code practice and bulletin transmissions. The stop at the historic little brick building in front of ARRL Headquarters also is the highlight of any visit to the League. Radio amateurs thrill at having the opportunity to operate from W1AW, often generating pileups of stations equally excited about making a contact with what may be the world's best-known ham radio call sign. Now you can take part in helping to preserve and advance W1AW as a tradition and a trendsetter. ARRL is working to build a permanent fund to cover W1AW's annual operations and capital needs. "Your support will help keep W1AW at the cutting edge of technology," said ARRL CEO David Sumner, K1ZZ. "I know you share with me a strong sense of history and a desire for W1AW to continue as an active and vibrant station, contributing to the Amateur Radio community for years to come." The League invites contributions in any amount--or a pledge spread out over time to the W1AW Endowment Fund. Help to ensure that W1AW will remain the flagship station of the ARRL! For information on other giving options, contact ARRL Chief Development Officer Mary Hobart, K1MMH, 860-594-0397.

[N9OGL NOTE] Where's the FCC when this pecuniary interest is happening?? Answer: jacking off behind W1AW with ARRL Fun money in pocket!!! and Hollingworth hand down Sumner pants!!

You just described yourself to a "T", Wiseman.

On the bright side. I know Lloyd is suffering from depression. I know that he is aware that he's a total fuck-up, and a grossly obese, retarded pig with a misshapen head. Soon, Lloyd will either die from heart failure, or he will suffer serious complications due to his obesity. One thing for certain, Lloyd will never live to see 45. He only has 15 years left of life. And the next 15 years will be his deterioration. The remaining years of Lloyd's life won't be pleasant. And because he is such a fucking loser, he will be spending his remaining years all alone, in a small apartment, surrounded by niggers,

What a miserable existence. Lloyd really should listen to his detractors and blow his brains out. But I'm glad he doesn't, I don't want the homosexual pig to go the easy way out. I want him to suffer. He has no clue what the future has in stored for him.

It won't be pretty.

I asked him about the hand-wringing on QRZed over robot WinLink stations operating in the present phone segments of the bands. He said that the Pactor and Winlink stations have ben around for a while and didn't see them taking over.

I suggested that the ARRL might be paving the way for more spectrum for WinLink as I recall them advocating WinLink for emergency communications. He said he didn't think the ARRL had advocated any particular software.

The devil will be in the band planning and agreements which must follow if the ARRL proposal is accepted. I don't know if that will also have to be codified into law or if American hams are up to "gentleman's" agreements. That's my opinion, not his.

Hi! I always wondered what foolishness allowed Canadian voice transmission in the USA Novice CW subband. Amateur bands and modes should be ordered and standardized worldwide. That certainly meets the basis and purpose, and would probably keep Frenchmen on 6M from talking out of band.

Kind of like your small brain huh Wogie. But we all know that how small your brain is. It's exhibited by the IQ you show every time you open your freezer mouth. I guess in that case your freezer mouth should not be accepting all that meat.

Heterosexual, I'm surprised that Wogie even knows what that is. I guess after giving him stimuli and shock therapy maybe he is coming around to the straight side of life. Except he's like Pavlov's dog in that he slobbers every time he sees a cock.

Wow... Good point! I hadn't even thought of that.

Still... If those silly "FAQ" posts are coming from who I think they're from (a morphed Airy R. Bean), then yes, I'm pretty sure s/h/e/it is, in fact, licensed.

As to what, exactly, said license is for, well, that's another subject for debate. ;-)

The American Radio Relay League (ARRL) needs to be fined for it recent campaign to weasel money out of amateur radio operators. It does seem funny that K1MAN gets fined a total of $21,000, while the ARRL which is basically doing he same crap don't get fined at all. Lets look at some REAL FACTS:

1. K1MAN runs an Information bulletin
2. W1AW runs an information bulletin

3. K1MAN has interfered with ongoing communications
4. W1AW has interfered with ongoing communications

5. K1MAN has used his station for Pecuniary interest by giving his website address www.k1man.com
6. W1AW has used it station for pecuniary interest by giving out their website address www.arrl.org

7. K1MAN was fined $21,000 dollars for the stuff listed above.
8. W1AW has NEVER been fined for the stuff listed above.

9. The FCC isn't in K1MAN pocket
10 The FCC is in the ARRL pocket

K1MAN APRIL 14, 2004 LETTER

April 14, 2004

Mr. Glenn A. Baxter
RR 1 Box 776
Belgrade Lakes, ME 04918

RE: Amateur Radio license K1MAN

Dear Mr. Baxter:

This letter explains in what ways your Amateur station has come into compliance with Commission rules since our letter to you of January 29, 2002; and notifies you of two areas of operation that, if not corrected, will lead to enforcement action against your license and/or designation of your renewal application for a hearing.

By letter dated January 29, 2002, the Commission notified you that your understanding of various Amateur Radio Service rules was incorrect. We outlined your apparent misconceptions regarding station control, publishing a transmitting schedule and how that related to interference, threats made to licensee complainants, including threats made with so-called "felony complaint affidavits", broadcasting and broadcasting of tape recordings and telephone conversations.

The January 29 letter detailed complaints received by the Commission, and explained that your method of station control, i.e., "a timer from Radio Shack", did not achieve compliance with the Commission's Rules when you were not present at the control point for your station and, therefore, did not satisfy the Commission's Rules regarding automatic control of a station. We explained to you that to comply with the Commission's Rules you must be at the transmitter, or at the transmitter control point, every moment your station is transmitting when your station is locally or remotely controlled; and that if the station is controlled by telecommand from the control point using a radio link, the frequencies used for telecommand must comply with the Section 97.201 requirements for an auxiliary station (may transmit only on the 1.25 m and shorter wavelength bands, except 219-220, 222-222.150, 431-433 and 435-438 MHz segments).

By letter dated March 4, 2003, the Commission's Boston Office notified you that Commission monitoring and numerous complaints filed with the Commission indicated that the problems outlined in January 2002 had not been corrected. The letter stated that your Amateur station was apparently being used for broadcasting various programs having nothing to do with Amateur Radio; and that transmissions from your station were being used for deliberate interference and for communications in which you apparently had a pecuniary interest. The Boston Office letter stated that transmissions started and ended erratically, were sometimes repetitive and abruptly ended with no identification as required by Commission rules, and that such operation indicated that the transmissions were not under proper control of a licensed operator. The letter noted also that you continually broadcast notices of so-called "felony complaint affidavits " that you claimed to have filed with the United States Justice Department against other Amateur Radio licensees whom you perceived to have interfered with your broadcasts, or refused to relinquish their operating frequency to you.

The Boston Office's letter stated that transmissions from your Amateur station included references to a degree program and directed listeners to your website that advertised an "American Radio School Technician Degree in Electronics" for "$299.95". On that web site you solicited donations for radio equipment, advertised a credit card, and solicited donations and advertised for "IARN" and "AARA". The letter from the Boston office pointed out that such use of your station was in apparent violation of Section 97.113(a)(3) of the Commission's rules, which prohibits "Communications for hire or for material compensation, direct or indirect...." and "Communications in which the station licensee or control operator has a pecuniary interest..."

The letter from the Boston Office requested that you provide substantial additional information about the operation of your station, including submission of a log detailing the information on a weekly basis until further notice. In January 2004, the Boston office notified you that you could discontinue the log submissions, and referred the case to this office.

We have reviewed the information you submitted, as well as numerous complaints filed against your station. Additionally we have reviewed tape recordings made by Commission personnel of your transmissions at various times during 2003 and 2004 subsequent to the Boston Office letter of March 3, 2003.

It is the finding of this office that you are, with some exceptions, generally in compliance with the Commission's rules in the Amateur Service related to broadcasting and information bulletins, and we explain as follows. Broadcasting is prohibited in the Amateur Radio Service, with some exceptions. Section 97.3(a)(10) defines broadcasting as "transmissions intended for reception by the general public, either direct or relayed." One-way transmissions are limited in the Amateur service, but an exception is allowed in Section 97.111(b)(6) for "Transmissions necessary to disseminate information bulletins."

Information bulletins are defined by Section 97.3(a)(26) as messages "directed only to Amateur operators consisting solely of subject matter of direct interest to the Amateur service." There are no specific time limits placed upon information bulletins by Commission rules. A review of your programs at random times since March 3, 2003 indicates that your transmissions were directed to Amateur Radio operators, not to the general public, and that the individual bulletins were related to the Amateur Radio Service. The only notable exception was the offering of a reward for information leading to the identity of parties making threatening telephone calls to you.

The station control problems outlined to you in warnings from the Commission appear, with minor exceptions, to have been corrected. During the monitoring period your station abruptly ended transmission with no identification in one instance, and started transmissions in mid-sentence in another instance.

There are, however, two areas in the operation of your Amateur station that must be corrected in order to avoid enforcement action and/or a designation of your renewal application for hearing to determine if you are qualified to remain a licensee. These are: 1) deliberate interference resulting from your commencing operation on top of ongoing communications, in violation of Section 97.101(a) and (d); and 2) use of your Amateur station for pecuniary interests, in violation of Sections 97.113(a)(2)and (3).

Regarding deliberate interference, we receive continuing complaints, and our monitoring verifies, that your transmissions start up on top of existing communications of individual licensees as well as nets such as the Salvation Army Team Emergency Radio Network. Such operation constitutes deliberate interference. Stations engaging in ongoing communications are not obligated to stop transmitting when K1MAN wants to start transmitting on a frequency, and complainants are so advised by the Commission. You appear to believe that the publication of a transmission schedule gives you the right to begin transmitting on a certain frequency at a certain time, even if the frequency is occupied. It does not.

All frequencies in the Amateur Radio Service are shared--no frequency is assigned for the exclusive use of any station, and your Amateur station has no greater rights to a frequency at any particular time than any other Amateur station. Section 97.101(d) of the rules prohibits an Amateur station from willfully or maliciously interfering with any radio communication or signal. Moreover, publishing a schedule is merely one of the several conditions necessary for the control operator of a club station to accept compensation for transmitting information bulletins, pursuant to Section 97.113(d) of the Commission's rules. Your station K1MAN, however, is not a club station.

Regarding use of an Amateur station for pecuniary interest, we note that your Amateur Radio program transmissions regularly advertise your web page at www.K1man.com, and on those pages you advertise items for sale by the American Amateur Radio Association (AARA), including T shirts, hats and a "Technician Degree Diploma". You advertise the sales commissions and "overrides" that your State Directors and Section Managers can receive, and detail ways in which your Section Managers can earn money by recruiting members, selling hats, name badges or T shirts.

Section 97.113(a)(2) prohibits communications for hire or for material compensation, direct or indirect, paid or promised. Section 97.113(a)(3) prohibits communications in which the station licensee or control operator has a pecuniary interest.

We remind you that any attempts to threaten or intimidate Amateur radio licensees operating on the Amateur bands will reflect adversely upon your qualifications to remain a Commission licensee, and would be the subject of a license revocation or renewal hearing. By letter dated December 11, 2001, you were warned against the sending of your so-called "felony complaint affidavits" to various Amateur Radio licenses that you perceive to either cause interference to your station or which do not relinquish to you the frequency on which they are operating.

Complainants were advised by the Commission to forward any such "affidavits" they received to the Commission, and that they could otherwise be ignored. The United States Attorney for your jurisdiction also warned you that the mailing of such "affidavits" is contrary to law. Apparently you have discontinued those threats. We also remind you that, in regard to the taping and broadcasting of telephone calls, you must comply with applicable state laws.

In conclusion, failure to correct the deliberate interference caused by K1MAN, and the continued use of K1MAN for pecuniary interests, will lead to enforcement action against your license. Either would be sufficient to designate your renewal application for an evidentiary hearing to determine if you are qualified to remain a Commission licensee.

An adverse finding in regard to threats to complainant licensees, or violation of state law regarding recording and broadcasting telephone conversations, would lead to enforcement action against your license and would be sufficient to designate your renewal application for an evidentiary hearing to determine if you are qualified to remain a Commission licensee. You would have the burden of proof in such a proceeding.

You should be aware that in 1990, the Commission revised its character qualifications policy, expanding the types of non-FCC-related misconduct that it would consider as bearing on licensee or applicant character qualifications (Policy Regarding Character Qualifications in Broadcast Licensing, Policy Statement and Order, 5 FCC RCD 3252 (1990)

(Character Policy Statement), recon. granted in part, denied in part, 6 FCC Rcd 3448 (1991), further recon. granted, 7 FCC Rcd 6564 (1992). The Commission concluded that "a propensity to comply with the law generally is relevant to the Commission's public interest analysis, and that an applicant's or licensee's willingness to violate other laws, and, in particular, to commit felonies, also bears on our confidence that an applicant or licensee will conform to FCC rules and policies. The 1990 Character Policy Statement applies to Amateur Radio licensees just as it does to all other FCC licensees (See, e.g., Herbert L. Schoenbohm, Decision, 13 FCC Rcd 15028 (1998), recon. denied, 13 FCC Rcd 23774 (1998), aff'd in part, dismissed in part sub nom. Schoenbohm v. FCC, 204 F.3d 243 (2000), cert. denied, 121 S. Ct. 405 (2000); Leslie D. Brewer, Order to Show Cause, Notice of Order of Suspension, Notice of Opportunity for Hearing, and Notice of Apparent Liability for a Forfeiture, 16 FCC Rcd 5671, licenses revoked, 16 FCC Rcd 12878 (2001).

Accordingly, we will continue to review the operation of K1MAN in light of the issues outlined above.

NOTICE OF APPARENT LIABILITY FOR FORFEITURE

Released: June 7, 2005

By the District Director, Boston Office, Northeastern Region, Enforcement Bureau:

I. INTRODUCTION

1. In this Notice of Apparent Liability for Forfeiture (``NAL''), pursuant to Section 503(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended (the ``Act''), we find Glenn A. Baxter, licensee of Amateur Radio Station K1MAN, apparently liable for a monetary forfeiture in the amount of twenty-one thousand dollars ($21,000). We conclude that Mr. Baxter apparently willfully and repeatedly interfered with ongoing communications of other stations in violation of Section 97.101(d) of the Commission's Rules (the ``Rules'')2. We further conclude that Mr. Baxter apparently willfully and repeatedly transmitted communications in which he had a pecuniary interest in violation of Section 97.113(a)(3) of the Rules. We find that Mr. Baxter apparently willfully and repeatedly failed to file requested information pursuant to an Enforcement Bureau (``Bureau'') directive. We further find that Mr. Baxter apparently willfully engaged in broadcasting in violation of 97.113(b) of the Rules3 and apparently willfully failed to exercise control of his station in violation of Section 97.105(a) of the Rules.4

II. BACKGROUND

2. Mr. Baxter has a license to operate an amateur radio station, call sign K1MAN. Mr. Baxter also is executive director of the American Amateur Radio Association (``AARA''), which has a website at www.K1MAN.com. Mr. Baxter uses his amateur station to advertise his website, which offers items for sale, including an annual newsletter published by ``Glenn Baxter, K1MAN'' for forty-five (45) dollars per year. The website also provides a schedule of K1MAN radio transmissions.

3. In response to numerous complaints of deliberate interference caused by transmissions from Mr. Baxter's Amateur station K1MAN to ongoing radio communications of other stations, including stations participating in the Salvation Army Team Emergency Radio Net, the Bureau issued a Warning Notice to Mr. Baxter on September 15, 2004. The Bureau requested information from Mr. Baxter with regard to the method of station control and what action, if any, was being taken in response to the complaints of interference.5 The Warning Notice also reminded Mr. Baxter that the Bureau previously warned him in a letter dated April 14, 2004 that enforcement action would be taken if he failed to correct the deliberate interference being caused by his station.6 The April 14, 2004 letter also cautioned Mr. Baxter that if he continued to use the station for pecuniary interest by advertising his website he could be subject to further enforcement action.

4. By letter dated October 14, 2004, Mr. Baxter responded to the September 15, 2004 Warning Notice stating ``[n]o corrective actions are necessary at K1MAN'' and ``[n]o changes are needed with regard to station control which is in full compliance with all FCC rules.'' Mr. Baxter's letter further stated that ``K1MAN is in full compliance with all FCC rules, state laws, and federal laws. I encourage you to take `enforcement actions' and look forward to seeing you in court (s).''7 Mr. Baxter's response did not provide the required information requested regarding station control.

5. The Bureau issued a second Warning Notice to Mr. Baxter on October 29, 2004.8 The Warning Notice explained that Mr. Baxter's response to the September 15, 2004, Warning Notice was insufficient and explained Mr. Baxter's obligations as a licensee to furnish the information requested by the Bureau. The Bureau provided Mr. Baxter an additional twenty days to provide the specific information requested. The Warning Notice also indicated that the Bureau had received two additional complaints of deliberate interference caused by Mr. Baxter's station. The Bureau requested information from Mr. Baxter regarding the identity of the control operator and method of station control for station K1MAN on the dates and times specified in the recently-received interference complaints.

6. Mr. Baxter responded by letter dated November 2, 2004, stating that ``[m]y letter to you dated 14 October 2004 in response to your letter to me dated 15 September 2004 provided all the information required by FCC rules and by federal law.''9 Mr. Baxter did not provide any information regarding the identity of the control operator or the method of station control.

7. On November 25, 2004, Commission personnel monitored Mr. Baxter's Amateur station on 14.275 MHz between 9:21 a.m. and 2:12 p.m. EST. During that time, Mr. Baxter's station transmitted numerous on-the-air references to his web page at www.K1MAN.com. On November 27, 2004, Mr. Baxter's Amateur station K1MAN began transmitting on top of ongoing communications at 5:54 p.m. EST on 3.890 MHz, disrupting the communications by the other licensees.

8. On November 30, 2004, agents from the FCC's Boston Office conducted an inspection of Mr. Baxter's Amateur station K1MAN. The method of station control appeared to be a telephone line connected to an interface board, which was connected to the transmitter. Mr. Baxter claimed that he monitored the station from a mobile receiver when not at the transmitter and that he could control the transmitter through a land-line or cellular phone. During the inspection, Mr. Baxter demonstrated that he could control the transmitter.

9. On December 1, 2004, on the frequencies 3.975 MHz and 14.275 MHz, Mr. Baxter's station K1MAN transmitted a pre-recorded program lasting nearly seventy minutes, which consisted of an interview by Mr. Baxter with Mr. Jeff Owens. During the broadcast, Mr. Baxter explained that Baxter Associates was a firm that engaged in ``management consulting, executive search and executive career management.'' The program consisted of a lengthy broadcast of the telephone interview with Mr. Owens. Mr. Baxter explained the fees involved, how Mr. Owens could invest in franchises of Baxter Associates, and how Mr. Baxter planned to market the franchises of Baxter Associates. Nothing in the program related to Amateur radio and no station call sign was given until the conclusion of the seventy-minute program.

10. On December 8, 2004, FCC agents found that Baxter's station K1MAN commenced transmitting at 7:10 p.m. EST on top of existing radio communications on 3.890 MHz. On December 19, 2004, from 5:44 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. EST, on frequency 3.975 MHz, Mr. Baxter's Amateur station K1MAN broadcast transmissions of an apparently defective pre-recorded audio tape, which resulted in the repeated transmission of a nine-word phrase, and segments thereof, without any intervention of a control operator and without the identification of the station's call sign. Mr. Baxter's Amateur station went off the air abruptly at 6:30 p.m. EST in mid-sentence.

11. On March 30, 2005, monitoring personnel observed station K1MAN advertising the www.K1MAN.com web site at approximately 7:19, 7:28, 7:33 and 8:05 P.M. EST on 3.890 MHz. On March 31, 2005, at 7:28 P.M. EST, monitoring personnel observed transmissions from station K1MAN begin on top of existing communications on 3.890 MHz.

III. DISCUSSION

12. Section 503(b) of the Act provides that any person who willfully or repeatedly fails to comply substantially with the terms and conditions of any license, or willfully or repeatedly fails to comply with any of the provisions of the Act or of any rule, regulation or order issued by the Commission there under, shall be liable for a forfeiture penalty. The term "willful" as used in Section 503(b) of the Act has been interpreted to mean simply that the acts or omissions are committed knowingly.10 The term ``repeated'' means the commission or omission of such act more than once or for more than one day.11

13. Section 97.101(d) of the Rules states that ``[n]o amateur operator shall willfully or maliciously interfere with or cause interference to any radio communication or signal.''12 On November 27, 2004, December 8, 2004, and March 31, 2005, Baxter's Amateur station K1MAN commenced transmitting on top of existing communications on 3.890 MHz in apparent willful and repeated violation of 97.101(d) of the Commission's rules.

14. Section 97.113(a)(3) of the Rules prohibits an Amateur station from transmitting any communications in which the station licensee or control operator has a pecuniary interest. On November 25, 2004 and March 30, 2005, Mr. Baxter's station repeatedly transmitted references to his website, which offers various products for sale, including a monthly newsletter published by Glenn Baxter and offered for sale for forty-five dollars per year. In addition, on December 1, 2004, Station K1MAN transmitted a seventy-minute interview with a person who was considering whether to retain Baxter Associates, an employment-search firm owned by Mr. Baxter. During the transmission, Mr. Baxter discussed fees, investments, and franchising opportunities. We find that Mr. Baxter apparently willfully and repeatedly violated Section 97.113(a)(3) of the Rules on each of these occasions by transmitting communications regarding matters in which he has a pecuniary interest.

15. Section 308(b) of the Act provides that the Commission ``during the term of any (such) licenses, may require from ...a licensee further written statements of fact to enable it to determine whether such original application should be granted or denied or such license revoked . . . .''13 Although Mr. Baxter replied in part to the Bureau's demand for information in the Warning Notices dated September 15, 2004 and October 29, 2004, Mr. Baxter failed to provide information regarding how the station is controlled and the identity of the control operator. Mr. Baxter's statements that ``[n]o corrective actions are necessary'' and ``[n]o changes are needed with regard to station control'' are insufficient. We therefore conclude that Glenn A. Baxter apparently willfully and repeatedly failed to comply with a Bureau directive to file information regarding control of Station K1MAN.

16. Section 97.113(b) of the Rules prohibits, with limited exceptions not applicable here, an Amateur station from engaging in any form of broadcasting or transmitting one-way transmissions. Section 97.3(a)(10) of the Rules defines broadcasting as ``transmissions intended for reception by the general public.'' 14 We find that the pre-recorded seventy-minute interview with a person interested in retaining Baxter Associates, during which there was no station identification, constitutes a ``broadcast'' and an impermissible one-way transmission. Therefore, Mr. Baxter apparently willfully violated Section 97.113(b) of the Rules.

17. Section 97.105(a) of the Rules provides that the control operator must ensure the proper operation of the station.15 On December 19, 2004, station K1MAN repeated the same pre-recorded phrase, and segments thereof, for 45 minutes on 3.975 MHz after which the transmissions ended abruptly in mid-sentence without the station identification required by Section 97.119(a) of the Rules.16 The continuous transmissions of the same pre-recorded phrase and segments thereof, and the abrupt ending of those transmissions in mid-sentence without identification, suggests that Mr. Baxter did not exercise control of his station. We conclude that Mr. Baxter apparently willfully violated Section 97.105(a) of the Rules.

18. Pursuant to The Commission's Forfeiture Policy Statement and Amendment of Section 1.80 of the Rules to Incorporate the Forfeiture Guidelines ("Forfeiture Policy Statement"), and Section 1.80 of the Rules, the base forfeiture amount is $7,000 for willful or malicious interference, $3,000 for failure to file required information, and $3,000 for violation of transmitter control. 17 There are no base forfeiture amounts for violations of the rules prohibiting broadcasting or pecuniary interest in Part 97 of the Commission's rules. We conclude, however, that violations of the Part 97 rules prohibiting broadcasting and the transmission of any communication in which the operator has a pecuniary interest are similar to violations of the Commission's requirements pertaining to broadcasting of lotteries and contests, which carry a base forfeiture amount of $4,000 for each such violation.18 In assessing the monetary forfeiture amount, we must also take into account the statutory factors set forth in Section 503(b)(2)(D) of the Act, which include the nature, circumstances, extent, and gravity of the violations, and with respect to the violator, the degree of culpability, and history of prior offenses, ability to pay, and other such matters as justice may require.19 Applying the Forfeiture Policy Statement, Section 1.80, and the statutory factors, a $21,000 forfeiture is warranted.

IV. ORDERING CLAUSES

19. Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED that, pursuant to Section 503(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended,20 and Section 1.80 of the Commission's Rules,21 Glenn A. Baxter, is hereby NOTIFIED of this APPARENT LIABILITY FOR FORFEITURE in the amount of twenty-one thousand dollars ($21,000) for willfully and repeatedly failing to furnish information requested by the Bureau, willful and repeated violation of Section 97.101(d) of the Rules, willful violation of Section 97.105(a) of the Rules, willful and repeated violation of Section 97.113(a)(3) of the Rules, and willful violation of Section 97.113(b) of the Rules.

20. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that, pursuant to Section 1.80 of the Commission's Rules, within thirty (30) days of the release of this NOTICE OF APPARENT LIABILITY, Mr. Baxter SHALL PAY the full amount of the proposed forfeiture or SHALL FILE a written statement seeking reduction or cancellation of the proposed forfeiture.

21. Payment of the forfeiture must be made by check or similar instrument, payable to the order of the Federal Communications Commission. The payment must include the NAL/Acct. No. and FRN No. referenced above. Payment by check or money order may be mailed to Federal Communications Commission, P.O. Box 358340, Pittsburgh, PA 15251-8340. Payment by overnight mail may be sent to Mellon Bank /LB 358340, 500 Ross Street, Room 1540670, Pittsburgh, PA 15251. Payment by wire transfer may be made to ABA Number 043000261, receiving bank Mellon Bank, and account number 911-6106.

22. The response, if any, must be mailed to Federal Communications Commission, Enforcement Bureau, Northeast Region, Boston Office, 1 Batterymarch Park, Quincy, MA 02169-7448 within thirty (30) days from the release date of this Notice of Apparent Liability for Forfeiture and must include the NAL/Acct. No. referenced in the caption.

23. The Commission will not consider reducing or canceling a forfeiture in response to a claim of inability to pay unless the petitioner submits: (1) federal tax returns for the most recent three-year period; (2) financial statements prepared according to generally accepted accounting practices ("GAAP"); or (3) some other reliable and objective documentation that accurately reflects the petitioner's current financial status. Any claim of inability to pay must specifically identify the basis for the claim by reference to the financial documentation submitted.

24. Requests for payment of the full amount of this Notice of Apparent Liability for Forfeiture under an installment plan should be sent to: Chief, Revenue and Receivables Operations Group, 445 12th Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20554.22

25. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that a copy of this NAL shall be sent by Certified Mail, Return Receipt Requested, and regular mail, to Glenn A. Baxter, at his address of record.

The letter advised Mr. Baxter about the Commission's rules regarding interference, station control, broadcasting, and pecuniary interest. The March 4, 2003 letter advised Mr. Baxter that the Bureau continued to receive complaints about his station's operation, indicating that he had not corrected the problems outlined in the January 29, 2002 letter.

True, the rules are very vague and need to be narrowly-taliored for goverment interest at the same time not infringe on the amateur radio operators right to free speech. my whole thing in regards to K1MAN is simply that if the the rule applies to one it should apply to all.

agreed One rule shoudl govern and one rule does govern Mob rule the difference between theARRl and K1MAN seem largely one of popularity
the arrl is more popular (prehaps with just cause) than K1Man

Explain something moron, if someone is a virgin that means they haven't had sex. Therefore, they have never participated in sexual activity. Which obviously makes sense that they wouldnt be queer because to be truly queer like you, you would have to participate in sexual activity. If you dont participate then youve never had homosexual sex. But in your case with your mouth violated every night that does make you queer. Oh, thats right, You're here and you're queer. Thats your motto isnt it boy

Secret Roger make secret spelling.

"eteranl" As in forever?

"ionly" Ions? Lonely? Who knows?

"expossed" Still no spell check.

"workibg" As in working?

"assulted" Darned typos!

"Georgaphy." Georgia on his mind?

"remibndded" It is hard to talk with your mouth full.

"corrpuption" Is that a dog?

"molsetred" Only 2Test knows.

"Whinyng". What?

"Plagairizing". Geesh

"emnpty" The inside of Roger's head.

"rloer" Not sure what Roger means here.

"lilusp" Woger meant to thay lithp.

"poat" Post?

I just checked for comments (9:55 PM EST Feb 10):

RM-11305: 286 comments
RM-11306: 883 comments

1169 total (includes some filed after the official deadline but shown on ECFS)

> Scanning them,
> not a real count, there seems to be very little support for either.

That's my impression, too.

Within the proposed bandwidth rules, RM-11306 would allow 'robots' anywhere on the bands. RM-11305 would allow robots anywhere on the bands - with no bandwidth limits!

> Part of this is > objecting to their use of proprietary equipment (e.g. PACTOR III or

Not just illegal content but ID as well.

> including 160.

Agreed.

> There is also a group objecting loudly to elimination of > AM but I didn't think the proposal said that.

Both proposals would increase the spectrum available for AM. RM-11306 is a bit odd in this regard in that it specifies 3.5 kHz maximum bandwidth, but then makes a special exception for double-sideband-with-carrier AM voice. Which means it isn't 100% 'regulation by bandwidth'.

Under RM-11306, an AM voice signal that's, say, 8 kHz wide would be OK, but a data signal 4 kHz wide would not be. Odd, to say the least.

> 11305 seems to have even

There's also the fact that 11305 would remove an important incentive to use spectrum-efficient modes.

I didn't see it either.

One thing I find very unusual is that FCC allowed only 30 days for comments. That's a very short comment period compared to other recent RMs. Perhaps FCC wanted to keep the number of comments down? Or perhaps they wanted to speed up the process?

Far as I'm concerned the ARRL and K1MAN can go "F" off with each other.
Both of em are full of hot air and mutually destructive to the future

Oh? The ARRL is easily ignored and placed on the back shelf. Their recent mass mailings looking for new members tells a tale, but we can toss those mailings aside. Put em' in the recycle bin.
Not so Glenn Baxter, who continues with his "in your face" confrontations on 20 meters.

Wait...now that I ponder this? Yes! Why not ignore both and use the VFO that comes with most radios these days? What a concept!!
You know how it is with the television stations, don't you? See or hear something you don't like? Easy and simple solution...turn the damned thing off! And for you technically challenged types? Unplug the power cord!

Dittos for Baxter...shut the son-of-a-bitch off! How a complicated is that???
And the ARRL? Same for them...shut their broadcasts off, too.
Baxter thrives on controversy, so why engage him in same? Why?

If the ARRL and Baxter run out of listeners...if nobody responds? Ignores them? The end result is a fairly simple conclusion.

Now, wasn't that ever so simple? And painless? Don't you incontinent old geezers wish you'd have come up with this simple solution long ago?
You guys could have dropped your systolic at least ten points and saved a few bucks on your Relys, too.
But then, that would be much too much to expect, wouldn't it?

"notices of proposed rulemaking" directly affect policy on Amateur radio (as well as other services).

so? answer the question: where in the subject line is this "off topic"?

btw, it takes one to know one (which is implied by your statement that you are one as well, eh?)

You and Vile shouldn't use words you both neither have any knowledge of. Seems like you and Vile are the sociopathic stalkers of Roger Wiseman, not the other way around, Davies.

"entireity" - Lardass is the embodiment of stupidity in its'
"entirety."
"bothe" - Lardass is "both" stupid and retarded.

"got hime" - Lardass has got "him" a case of the dumbass!
"evelope" - Mongolloyd pushes the stupidity "envelope" to the max.
"chiicken" - Lardass Lloyd should eat more "chicken" instead of leftover pizzas then he wouldn't be obese.
"dont" - "Don't" ever improve your English skills, Lardass!
"likign" - Huh? More Mongolloyd Ebonics.
"you ignorant spawn of satin" - Lardass ironically confesses his love of wearing lace!
"powerfull" - Mongolloyd's brain cell isn't "powerful" enough to light a christmas light.
"heresay" - Mongolloyd is a fucking idot, and that's no "hearsay."
"glas" - Lardass Lloyd never uses a "glass" to drink his sticky protein.
"freind" - Dicksucking Davies hasn't got a "friend" in the world.
"yu" - Lardass, "you" really should've gotten a better education!
"Got Brother Stair tuned in here to listen to while sleeping tonite!" - Mongolloyd fucks up again!
"I am not a retrard" - Oh, yes, you are, Lardass!
"Got you in another lie!" - We've "caught you" in another fuckup, Dumbass Davies!
"I am not mentally challenged! I have some pontential." - Mongolloyd is in denial about his imbecility and has the "potential" to become an even bigger jackass!
"did'nt" - Mongolloyd "didn't" ever pass Spelling.
"soon all your asses are belong to sherrif" - Mongolloyd fantazises about having sex with his local "sheriff"...
"shure" - We are "sure" you are a fucking moron, Llardass Lloyd!!
"proxie servers" "conecting" - Mongolloyd used "proxy servers" when he "connected" to spam Josh's board.
"enfrocement" - Mongolloyd also fucked up when he spoofed caller ID's and spammed boards, and now law "enforcement" is watching him.
"apoligize" - Mongolloyd's parents should "apologize" for ever siring such a mentally ill retard.
"meagre" - Mongolloyd's "meager" brain can't comprehend English.
"goten" - If only Mongolloyd would've "gotten" an education!
"Prepositioned" - Mongolloyd always gets "propositioned" by nouns and pronouns!
"temting" - Mongolloyd is as "tempting" as a root canal.
"accept" - Mongolloyd use the wrong word in the wrong place again!
"normaly" - "Normally" Lardass would be passed out from two Bud Lites by now
"red head" - Little Red is shoving his big ole black dickhead in Lardass' fat piehole.
"Aflack" - Mongolloyd fucks up yet again..www.aflac.com

Mongolloyd make good spells!...

Lloyd aka Billy admits he's gay.........

Roger isn't gay, Lardass, you are! That's the only reason (besides God giving you those inferior genes) you are a 32 year old virgin.

Wonderful. Now the only people left in the newsgroup are sociopaths like Wiseman and pedophiles like Daugherty and Morgan. Finally, rrap has achieved its true calling.

Well, it HAS been hinted at that Wiseman is a closet pedophile as well as being a sociopath.
Allegedly that is the reason his wife took her kids and left him...he was looking more longingly at her kids than he was her.

As if you could even talk about your shitty life in Glen Dale, West Virginny. Working at the King right boy. Roger wasn't adopted, he's just a by product of an incestous relationship his mommy had with cousin Joe Bob.

you do miss the point for many of the "geezers" the point is that no one else may say or do anything they don't approve of that is seen in the posting Dave Heil and Steve Robeson on here (and formaly Dan as well) some from Jim only viewpoints that are approved may be heard

I don't know but I suspect that W1AW hasn't eve gotten one the political strengh of the ARRL at the FCC has likely gotten any matter that could have headed that way taken care of long before anything got to that stage

The ARRL, with the help of the FCC, sold out ham radio years ago.

The ARRL & FCC are partners in the Culture of Corruption.

K1MAN is the only one fighting for our rights in ham radio.

Not so, Woger. It was you who plastered those offers all over the Internet and NIM Busters while impostering Lloyd. The admin of NIM got so fed up with that kind of sick activity that he banned you from his board.

You are quite mentally ill, Woger. I hope Sgt. Vogler gets you some help when he finally has you involuntarily committed.
